President Keeps Pledge To Build Up Prosperity

Defense Office Will Name Men Declared Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today will identify 498 of 3,856 American soldiers and airmen who were officially declared dead at the end of 1953 after they had been listed as missing in Korea for at least one year.

The Army and Air Force started notifying next of kin last week and by Saturday all of the presumed dead will be identified publicly.

The first list of 10 Army officers and 398 enlisted men has been distributed for publication today at 5 p.m., CST.

Battle Toll Boosted

The Army has prepared five more lists. The Air Force and the Marine Corps have one each. The last of these will be made public Friday.

The Army has changed the official status of 3,372 missing men, the Air Force of 256 and the Marine Corps of 228.

The Navy plans no such mass action, but has been acting in individual cases after the lapse of a year without information that the serviceman might still be alive.

Since the fighting ended last summer the Navy has listed as dead 34 of the 103 men who had been reported missing.

The Army and Air Force action at year's end raised to at least 30,350 the battle death toll in Korea.

At the same time, the roster of missing has been reduced to 3,856. Eventually these, too, will be declared legally dead unless information turns up to indicate otherwise.

Lump Sum Payments

Pay and allowances of missing servicemen end as soon as they are listed as dead, but their beneficiaries are entitled to any pay that has accumulated.

Beneficiaries also will receive lump-sum payments equivalent to six months base pay.

Families of men now declared dead will receive from the appropriate service a booklet setting forth their rights and benefits. The largest of these could be a $10,000 government life insurance policy.

The Veterans Administration said all forms needed to apply for death compensation, servicemen's indemnity or insurance benefits are being mailed to beneficiaries as rapidly as advice is received from the armed forces.

Canadian Informer Gives Secret Spy Data To U.S. Solons

NEW YORK (AP)—Two senators said today Igor Gouzenko, who helped smash a Russian spy ring in Canada, had given them names and information usable for the internal security of the United States.

Sens. William E. Jenner (R-Ind) and Pat McCarran (D-Nev) told newsmen on returning from a trip to Canada that they questioned Gouzenko for more than five hours Monday.

Gouzenko formerly was a code clerk for the Russians in Canada.

The senators declined to reveal where they had seen Gouzenko at what they described as a hearing. They said their mission "was accomplished and it was satisfactory."

They said the hearing was presided over by J. C. Mcruer, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Ottawa.

Discussion Barred

Jenner, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on internal security, said he would study the transcript of the hearing and probably make a formal request to the Canadian government to release the information.

Asked if Gouzenko had mentioned names, Jenner said:

"Yes, names were mentioned, but under our agreement we cannot discuss it."

To a question as to whether he had "learned anything" from the interview, Jenner said:

"Yes, we did."

"What are you going to do with it?" he was asked.

"Use it for the internal protection of the United States," said Jenner.

In Good Spirits

"Mr. Gouzenko has a very good mind and appeared in good spirits," Jenner commented.

He described the Canadian government and Gouzenko as cooperative.

Both Jenner and McCarran said they would make a fuller announcement concerning the trip after they studied the transcript.

The ex-Russian bared the existence of a Soviet-directed spy ring in America and Britain in 1945 after walking out on his job in the Soviet Embassy here in 1945.

Army Expects Trouble Jan. 23 When 20,000 Prisoners Are Freed

SEOUL (AP)—The 8th Army is getting set for "any eventuality" at midnight Jan. 22 when more than 20,000 anti-Communist prisoners are scheduled to be freed from neutral custody, it was learned tonight.

At midnight Jan. 22 all prisoners who have refused repatriation are to become civilians.

These eventualities reportedly include even an attack by South Korean army forces if anti-Red Chinese and North Korean prisoners are not freed according to the Korean armistice timetable.

Head Count Condemned

Even as the 8th Army prepared for the prisoner release, South Korea and the Communists—bitter foes—joined in bitter criticism of a head count of anti-Communist war prisoners by Indian troops. The U.N. Command has warmly endorsed the count.

American troops waiting south of the demilitarized zone were reported ready to handle a disorganized rush southward of thousands of prisoners if they should break out or become unruly after being released from the 55 compounds in which they are held.

Won't Wait For Dawn

It also was learned that present plans call for the anti-Red prisoners to start moving southward out of the neutral zone just after midnight Jan. 22. The POWs will not be asked to wait until dawn.

Measures are being taken for special isolation of pro-Communist prisoners or agents moving southward with the prisoners. Loudspeakers along the roadways leading southward will tell them to "weed out the hostile among you."

North Koreans will be held temporarily in compounds north of Munsan, it was learned, while Chinese will be moved to Inchon to board ships for Formosa.

Peninsula Men Sent To Prison

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Federal Judge Raymond W. Starr sentenced two Upper Peninsula men to jail terms Monday on two separate indictments for embezzlement.

Laurence E. Chabot, 54, longtime resident of Ontonagon, was sentenced to two years and William J. Pelnar, 54, former treasurer of the Menominee City and County Employes Federal Credit Union, to one year.

Chabot, Ontonagon First National Bank president until his resignation several months ago, was accused by a federal grand jury of embezzling 10 shares of bank stock worth more than $1,000.

He was also accused of falsely reporting to the Veteran's Administration that a loan applicant's property was free and clear. He pleaded guilty to both counts and Judge Starr dismissed the other six counts of the indictment.

Pelnar was ordered to serve one year for embezzlement of $450 he had been given for deposit by a credit union member. Two other counts of Pelnar's indictment received no action by Judge S.tarr.

Pelnar had pleaded guilty to the count on which he was sentenced. Both men were arrested Dec. 1.

Two Betrayers Tried In Korea

SEOUL (AP)—Two South Koreans went on trial today on charges of betraying Gen. William F. Dean into three years of Red captivity.

Today's session lasted only five minutes during which the court was advised that Dean had written a letter describing how he was captured in August 1950.

Contents of Dean's letter were not disclosed. Earlier he had written South Korean President Syngman Rhee asking clemency for the two defendants—Han Too Kyoo and Choe Chong Bong—as a "personal favor."

The two Koreans are accused of accepting $5 each from the Reds as a reward for the general's capture.

The trial continues Wednesday.

Hearing Started On Bridge Bonds

LANSING (AP)—Arguing before the State Supreme Court, Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) said today that the Mackinac bridge bond issue is "an attempt to circumvent the constitution."

He admitted that the $99,800,000 bond issue did not pledge the full faith and credit of the state, but he said that the 1953 Legislature's approving an annual appropriation of $417,000 from highway revenues for maintenance of the bridge implied that the state stood back of the bond issue.

"The maintenance appropriation act," he said, "appropriates funds not in existence and tries to bind future legislatures."

He cited the constitutional provision forbidding issuance of state bonds in excess of $250,000 without a vote of the people."

Nichols displayed a newspaper advertisement for the sale of the bonds in which they were titled "State of Michigan bonds.'

"Who was misled by this advertisement?" Nichols asked.

The senator, who started the suit as a taxpayer to block the sale of the bonds, said that the state ferry system adequately serves the traffic across the Straits.

"This court," he said, "is asked to decide whether the state is to be saddled with a white elephant."

Contending that traffic at the Straits is not adequate to pay off the bonds, Nichols said the Blue Water Bridge to Canada at Port Huron carried a million passengers this year while the Straits ferries carried only 900,000.

Winter Deals Blow In Western Europe; New Storms Coming

LONDON (AP)—Shivering Western Europe, battered by three days of storms, mobilized its defenses today against new onslaughts from Old Man Winter.

While salvage and rescue teams from Scandinavia to Italy took advantage of a momentary lull to dig out snowbound autos and trains and strengthen flood - weakened dikes, the weatherman warned more trouble was on the way.

Most of the fury of the winter's first big storms blew itself out by early today.

Flood Damage Heavy

Along Germany's Baltic coast the worst floods for almost a century receded. Damage may hit the million-dollar mark.

At the height of the floods, the Kiel harbor area was a foot under water, a refugee camp in Luebeck was evacuated, electricity and telephone pylons were uprooted, and road and rail communications were cut.

The howling northeast blizzard, which churned seas over the low coastland unprotected by dikes, gave way today to a gentle breeze from the south. Flood alarm warnings were lifted.

Rail Lines Blocked

In Italy, the country worst hit by sudden snowstorms, mountain villages were isolated and many rail lines blocked by drifts as deep as 13 feet in some places.

At the Rombo Pass, near the Austrian border, an avalanche roared into a party of Italian skiers, killing one.

Twenty-four passengers were injured at Udine when a locomotive skidded on icy rails and slammed into a coach.

At Trieste, the violent north wind blew 10 freight cars into the sea.

Lawmakers Approve Reduction Of U. S. Infantry In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) said today top defense officials will be called "just as soon as possible" to give the Senate Armed Services Committee a detail briefing on new administration defense policies.

Saltonstall, chairman of the committee, voiced complete confidence in President Eisenhower's decision to withdraw two U. S. divisions from Korea.

That decision has been assailed by some Democrats, who planned to question the President about it at a White House session today.

But Sen. Stennis (D-Miss), a member of the Armed Services Committee not invited to that conference, said in a separate interview that a reported administration plan to reduce the size of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps was a move "in the right direction" and that he had no quarrel with the plan to reduce U.S. ground strength in Korea.

Former U. S. Judge In Germany Calls His Ouster Stupid

NEW YORK (AP) — William L. Clark, former chief justice of U. S. courts in Germany, arrived home today characterizing his ouster a "stupid performance."

He also accused the State Department of "lying in their teeth" in denying that his diplomatic passport was forcibly taken away.

The jurist said one of his first moves would be to confer with Morris Ernst, counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, on possible court action against Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to get the passport restored. He said he wants to return to Germany to study for a doctorate in jurisprudence.

Clark arrived on the liner Queen Mary, travelling on a special passport good only for the trip home. The judge was suspended Dec. 9 after he ignored a State Department order to return to Washington for consultation.

In his statement, the ex-judge said that his original passport was removed from his Frankfurt office by a vice - consul and a Marine sergeant and that he had "protested the seizure as the sort of thing done by the Gestapo."

Housewives Not Giving Up Fight On Security Tax

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Downed but not downhearted, the Marshall housewives are going to take their tax fight to Congress.

They never did want to collect social security taxes on the wages of their household servants—and they never did.

Now the U. S. Supreme Court, in a decision Monday, said they had to do it. Two lower courts had said they had to do it, and the Supreme Court refused to hear their appeal.

The women said the tax wasn't constitutional. And through all the rebellion that started almost three years ago they have waited in their homes while internal revenue agents went into downtown banks to take the taxes due from their bank accounts.

"Where else can we go now?" asked Mrs. Carolyn M. Abney, spokesman for the group of 14 housewives and in whose name the suit was filed.

"We have no further recourse in the courts.

"But the American people have a recourse by protesting to Congress who wrote these things. After all, we elected those congressmen."

Mrs. Abney said she and the other rebelling housewives had received "thousands of letters" of support in the 2½ years of their fight. She asked these people to write their Congressmen now to get the law changed.

Adenauer Is 78

BONN, Germany (AP)— Thousands of congratulatory messages from throughout the free world poured into this little Rhine River city today to wish vigorous old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a happy 78th birthday.

Society Figure Dies On Train

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Countess Dorothy di Frasso, internationally prominent movie and night club society figure whose realm of acquaintanceship embraced both the nobility and the underworld, is dead at 66.

Her body was found by film actor Clifton Webb Monday in her roomette aboard a train en route here from Las Vegas, Nev. Apparently she died of heart disease.

Webb said he went to arouse her as the train neared Los Angeles. He found her lying on the berth, attired in a black sequined evening gown, a full-length mink coat, and a $100,000 diamond necklace.

On her fingers and in her luggage were other jewels worth $150,000, including a 15-carat diamond ring.

The countess, famous as a hostess and party goer, was returning from a round of holiday social events in the Nevada city. Her friendships ranged from Gary Cooper to Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel, the late gang leader.

Her title came from her marriage to Count Carlo di Frasso in 1923. She divorced him some years ago, and he is now dead.

The late Bertrand Taylor was her father, and from him she reportedly inherited 12 million dollars.

Shoplifter Gets $75,000 In Bank

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—The case of shop-lifted $75,000 had police and bank officials in a quandary here today.

The money disappeared from a teller's cage Monday, First National Bank officials said. Police said they didn't have any good clues and weren't holding anybody.

The missing money—in $5 and $10 bills—was one of three sacksful making up a shipment to the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas. Its disappearance was discovered about 1:50 p.m. while the bank was crowded with customers.

A bank employe said he noticed a man he hadn't seen before in the bank about the time the money was missing from a cage near the rear door of the bank lobby.

Police officials alerted local officers with a description of the man, said to be of medium height and about 30 or 32 years old.

Investigating officers assumed somebody entered the rear door of the cage, picked up the sack and walked out the rear door, into the main building lobby, and on into the street. Officers believed anybody reaching over top of the low cage would have been noticed.

Archbishop Arrested

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Diplomatic sources here reported Monday that Archbishop Eugen Baziak of Krakow, who was last heard of nearly a year ago, is being held in confinement. The Roman Catholic archbishop had been accused in the Polish press of tolerating "anti - state activities" of his associates.

Bulk Of $160,000 Stolen From Engraving Bureau Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virginia state police today reported they have recovered "the bulk" of the $160,000 stolen from the government's Bureau of Engraving in Washington. They said it was located in a metal tool box on a farm near Centreville, Va.

State troopers there said they did not know exactly how much of the money was recovered or whether any arrests had been made. They said the Secret Service in Washington would report further developments.

Several Thousand Spent

Secret Service headquarters here declined for the moment to discuss the case. It was learned, however, that several agents were in Centreville.

Virginia officers said a Treasury employee was suspected of the unprecedented theft from the tightly guarded engraving building.

They said this employee had spent several thousand dollars of the money.

The Bureau of Printing and Engraving comes under the jurisdiction of the Treasury Department.

The officers said an associate of the suspect, who knew of the theft, gave information to a state police officer which led to recovery of most of the money.

Whisked To Washington

The huge sum, in stacks of 20 dollar bills, was found on a farm in Loudon County and was whisked by Secret Service agents to Washington early today, they said.

Among other things, Virginia police reported, the suspects had bought a new Oldsmobile with the missing money.

The Virginia troopers said the tip on whereabouts of the money was promptly passed on to the Secret Service in Washington, which is about 25 miles from Centreville. Secret Service agents in collaboration with state police went to the farm and found the money.

Since the Secret Service took charge of the money and the case, the Virginia troopers were without definite information as to the amount recovered or developments in the wake of the recovery.

Secret Service headquarters declined to comment on the report by the Virginia troopers.

Manhunt Still On

Chief U. E. Baughman, who had been up all night working on the case, told reporters, "I can't discuss it in any way."

The implication appeared to be that Secret Service was still seeking one or more suspects in the case.

Baughman said if he had anything to announce it would not be before afternoon.

"We'll have to work fast," he added without elaboration.

The Evening Star quoted Virginia police as calling some of the suspects "gun-toting men" and as saying lives might be endangered in their roundup.

The newspaper described the money cache as a metal box about 2 feet long, 10 inches high and 8 inches wide.

The missing money was in 8,000 crisp, new ready-to-spend $20 bills.

Somehow, someone sneaked it out of the bureau during the New Year's holiday period, leaving two packages stuffed with plain white paper where the money was supposed to be in a vault.

Louisiana Senator Hopes To Cut Down McCarthy's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La) said today he will appeal to the Senate to "cut down to size" the spending budget of Sen. McCarthy's permanent investigations subcommittee.

Simultaneously, four newspapers reported that the Eisenhower administration has been urging McCarthy (R-Wis) to concentrate on investigating waste and corruption, leaving searches for subversives primarily to others, and that McCarthy is said to have agreed. Accounts to that effect were carried by the New York Times and Herald Tribune, the Washington Post and the Baltimore Sun.

Avoid Duplication

The Post quoted administration leaders it did not name as saying McCarthy had been urged to give "greater attention to legislative needs, directing his investigations more at waste, inefficiency and corruption—and leaving most of the Red hunting to the group created to do that—the Senate internal security subcommittee."

McCarthy, out of the city, was not immediately available for comment. He said last week "digging out communism" was not the "primary purpose" of his subcommittee, and that it has been careful to check with the Senate internal security subcommittee to avoid duplication.

"If in our investigations we find subversive elements in government which would prevent the government from operating properly, and no other congressional group is investigating, then we go ahead," he said.

Killer Of Trotsky May Ask For Parole

MEXICO CITY (AP)—It looks as if Leon Trotsky's killer, Jacques Mornard, may want to get out of jail after all.

Mornard, serving a 20-year sentence for killing Joseph Stalin's onetime chief rival, became eligible for parole Dec. 20. When no word was announced of a petition for his release, observers figured he preferred the safety of Mexico City's huge stone penitentiary. There a heavy guard protects him from possible avengers.

Monday, however, Judge Ignacio Calderon Alvarez said he had met Mornard in a prison corridor and the man told him he had applied for a parole and been refused. The judge said Mornard asked his help.

Mexico City's Social Welfare Department, which acts as a parole board, said no petition for release had been filed with it yet. Prison officials said they believed Mornard plans to apply soon, and took advantage of a chance meeting with the judge to ask his help.

The late Judge Manuel Rivera sentenced Mornard in 1943 to serve 19½ years for homicide and six months for carrying a concealed weapon.

Mornard bludgeoned Trotsky to death with a mountain climber's axe on Aug. 20, 1940, in the revolutionary exile's heavily guarded home here. He was arrested at once. He has never told his story publicly who he is, whey he killed Trotsky and if anyone hired or ordered him.

More U. S. Cash Given To India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States gave India another 25½ million dollars in economic aid today to be used for importing steel needed in railway, agricultural and other development projects.

The grant, provided under a subagreement signed by Indian and U. S. officials, is the second to be made from the $89,100,000 U. S. economic assistance allocation to this country for the year ending next June.

Last Dec. 24, a pact was signed giving India 20 million dollars to buy locomotives and cars for her nationalized railroads.

Today's agreement provided that 43 per cent of the steel purchased be allocated to railway car building and other railroad requirements, 23.5 per cent to steel processing, 20 per cent to agricultural and rural development needs, 8.5 per cent to river valley development and 5 per cent to cottage and petroleum industries.

Action On Farm Prices Stressed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Close associates say President Eisenhower is determined to solve the farm price problem as one of the first steps in carrying out his pledge of "constantly increasing prosperity for all."

In a radio-television report to the people Monday night, the President said his administration is using "every legitimate means available to the federal government" to maintain prosperity and will continue to do so as long as is necessary.

No Boom-and- Bust

Asserting that his administration does not believe in a "boom-and-bust America" in which prosperity hinges on war or threats of war, he said the program he will lay before Congress in his State of the Union message Thursday will be keyed to federal help.

"It is a program that does not deal in pie-in-the-sky promises to all, nor bribes to a few, nor in threats to any," he declared. "It is a program inspired by zeal for the common good, dedicated to the welfare of every American family —whatever it means of livelihood may be or its social position or its ancestral strain or its religious affiliations."

In outlining the past year's accomplishments, he said groundwork has been laid to sustain basic prosperity "in the strong belief that the federal government should be prepared at all times—ready at a moment's notice—to use every proper means" toward that end.

Recession Talk Rapped

He said a program of sound planning and aggressive enterprise must be accompanied by "a faith which cannot be shaken by self-appointed peddlers of gloom and doom" in America's growth and progress.

This was an obvious thrust at some Democrats, like Senators Douglas of Illinois and Kerr of Oklahoma, who have said the country already is in a recession and may be headed for a real depression.

Eisenhower claimed a halt in tobogganing farm prices as one of the accomplishments of his administration in its first year. Presumably he referred to an Agriculture Department report last week which said that after months of decline, average farm prices were up slightly in mid-December.

Members of Congress said the President had stressed in conferences on his program the need for action on the farm front.

Democrats Invited In

In this connection, it was reported that he will recommend in a special message on the subject next Monday action to clear away mounting crop surpluses as a prelude to stabilizing farm prices. The government now has on hand about five billion dollars worth of farm products acquired in its price support program.

In a bid for bipartisan support, the President invited Democratic as well as Republican leaders to a White House briefing today on the foreign relations and national defense aspects of his message.

Tour Of Europe Told To Rotary

Impressions gained on a two-month tour of Europe together with many pictures in color were presented to the Escanaba Rotary Club at its Monday noon meeting at the Delta Hotel by Miss Mary Groos, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Louis P. Groos, 1015 First Ave. S.

Miss Groos, a registered nurse, who graduated from Escanaba Senior High School in 1949 and received the Rotary Girl award, is employed in Woods Hospital, Milwaukee.

In company with 14 other young women Miss Groos last summer toured Holland, France, Italy and Germany. Returning to Holland they participated in an international youth convention. The trip to Europe was made by air and the voyage home was on a small ship that pitched and tossed through a hurricane and the rough seas of the North Atlantic, Miss Groos said.

Picturesque scenes of the countryside, mountains and rivers, modern cities and ancient ruins, were targets for Miss Groos' color camera. These pictures were shown with commentary that was informative and humorous.

The scene ranged from the beautiful formal gardens to be found in many European cities to the ugliness and destitution encountered by the tourists when they visited a camp near Berlin for fugitives from Communist-controlled East Germany.

With an instinctive eye for the beautiful, however, Miss Groos often turned her camera lens toward flower-decked streets and buildings. One flower study in which she took particular pride, typifying the spirit of Europe today, were three roses—one dead, the other in full blossom, and the third a bud ready to open.

Miss Groos was introduced by Paul Snyder of the Rotary Club's program committee.

In its business meeting the Rotary Club elected to membership George Douglas, general manager of the Escanaba Paper Company.

Fight Polio Fund:

Delta Organization Ready For March Of Dimes Drive

Organization for the 1954 March of Dimes campaign in Delta County to raise funds to fight polio is now being completed. No goal has been set but it is hoped that contributions will exceed last year's $12,000 total.

Barclay Conley and Fred Hanson are co-chairman for the 1954 fund campaign. They announced the following organization chairmen:

Industrial — John Anthony; Mothers' March—Mrs. Charles Anspaugh; townships — Joseph L. Heirman; Gladstone city—Atty. Clair Hoehn.

The committees for school solicitation will be headed by Superintendent John A. Lemmer in Escanaba, Superintendent Wallace Cameron in Gladstone, and County School Superintendent Hagle Quarnstrom in the townships.

Miss Lois Pearson is drive secretary.

The Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce will distribute coin containers and posters. Eight thousand letters will be mailed to residents of the county asking for contributions to the March of Dimes. There will not be fund-sponsored dances, it was announced.

Escanaba Daily Press newsboys will make their annual collection for the March of Dimes on Saturday, Jan. 16, in both Delta and Schoolcraft counties. The proceeds are credited to the county in which the collection is made.

A Mothers' March for contributions to the March of Dimes will be held in Escanaba and is tentatively scheduled for the last week in January.

The need for additional funds to carry out the fight against crippling polio will be most urgent in 1954, reports the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Additional use of gamma globulin vaccine to prevent polio in its paralytic form.

To pay for the costs of the vaccine trials a tripled supply of gamma globulin on this "fourth front to prevent polio", one-third of the net receipts from the March of Dimes will be initially sent to National Foundation headquarters and the remainder divided 50-50 between the National and County Chapters.

U. P. Land Given To Ford Fund

A large gift of Northern Michigan timber and timber lands has been made by Ford Motor Company to Ford Motor Company Fund, a non-profit, educational, scientific and charitable organization.

Allen W. Merrell, vice-president of Ford Motor Company Fund, said the gift involves about 318,000 acres of timberland in seven counties of Michigan's Upper Peninsula: Baraga, Marquette, Dickinson, Iron, Alger, Ontonagon and Houghton. Deeds to the property have been turned over to the fund, Mr. Merrell said. Mineral rights to all of the property have been retained by Ford Motor Company.

Mr. Merrell stated that Ford Motor Company Fund is a non-profit corporation completely independent of Ford Foundation. It was organized for educational, scientific and charitable purposes and is supported principally by contributions from Ford Motor Company.

"No plans have been formulated with respect to the property pending the completion of a study by the Fund," Mr. Merrell stated.

Ford Motor Company plans to close down its sawmills at L'Anse and Alberta, in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, about July 1st, T. A. Rogge, manager of lumber and sawmill operations of Ford Division, announced today.

Carpenter In Frisco Kills Best Friend With Christmas Gun

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 44-year-old carpenter shot his best friend to death Monday night, police reported, using a shotgun the victim had given him for Christmas.

Homicide Inspector Frank Ahern said Arthur E. Hansen told him he killed Paul Pederson, 40, because "I didn't like the way he was treating his wife."

But Mrs. Louise Pederson, 34, hysterically denied her husband, a trucking firm employe, had ever mistreated her.

Hansen was held on a charge of suspicion of murder.

Ford Jolt Came 40 Years Ago

DETROIT (AP)—Forty years ago today Henry Ford gave the industrial world a jolt it long remembered: he established the $5-a-day minimum wage in his factories.

Ford's historic scale announced Jan. 5, 1914, became effective a week later. Factory wages then ranged from $1 to $2.90 a day, depending on skill.

Ford's action brought instantaneous criticism as well as praise.

"Industrial suicide," some manufacturers wailed.

"Just social justice," Ford replied. He maintained "the country's best market is created by the wages it pays."

The company Ford founded 10 years earlier on a shoestring had just filed its financial statement. This showed assets of approximately 35 million dollars and a surplus in excess of 28 million.

A year later, after paying out 10 million in profit-sharing bonuses in addition to the doubled wage scale, the company reported more than 61½ million in assets and a surplus of nearly 49 million.

Welfare Center Going Strong

In the final three months of 1953 the Seventh Day Adventist Welfare Center at 1327 Sheridan Road served more than twice as many people as it did in the first seven months of its existence, C. R. Conger, manager of the center, said Monday.

During October, November and December 1953, the center served 815 persons with 3,869 articles of clothing and house furnishings. It gives such items free to anyone who needs them.

During the first seven months after the center began operations in December 1952, it served 341 people with 2,000 items, Conger noted.

Despite the large quantity given out, the center still has plenty on hand. "Our shelves are full. Our racks are full," the manager declared.

A Thousand Dresses

On hand are approximately 1,000 dresses, 300 women's coats, and 200 men's overcoats, in addition to stocks of shoes, underclothing, men's trousers, and other items of apparel. The center also distributes furniture.

The clothing is nicely displayed. Dresses are hung on racks. Mothballs were put in the pockets of woolen coats during the moth season, and the coats were sprayed twice during the year.

The center makes quilts to give away, out of garments not fit for clothing.

The center sells rugs to make its expenses, and a recently acquired loom, larger than the one formerly used, is now in operation making these rugs.

More furniture is being given away now than in the early days. The center recently gave a family a bed with spring and mattress and gave a man a bedstead.

The center sent 138 pieces of clothing to a Seventh Day Adventist School in Lower Michigan where students are working their way through school. It would also send clothing to a school of any other denomination which needed it, Conger said.

Volunteers Needed

"Our whole ambition is to help those who need," the manager declared.

Asked if the center has not acquired more clothing than it can successfully dispose of, Conger replied that he did not think so.

The center needs volunteer workers to sort and put away clothing, and to make new clothing for children, with material the center will provide. Anyone who wants to help may call Conger or Mrs. Conger at 230-W.

The center gives to anyone in need, regardless of race, creed or color. It keeps a card file of everyone who comes in for help, showing the number of items each person obtains.

Dun & Bradstreet Asks Reports On U. P. Businesses

Dun & Bradstreet yesterday began mailing 2,700,000 requests for financial statements to the businessmen of America. The entire mailing is scheduled to be completed this week, and in itself, represents a mammoth job for the postman. According to Lloyd M. Outland, of the Agency's office at Green Bay, Wis., his office alone will send out 19,667 letters to the retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers in Northwestern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

The mailing will include 670 letters to business people in Delta County, 426 of which will be in the City of Escanaba. The business growth of this community is unlined by a comparison with 1946 when the physical count of names showed 667 in Delta County and 408 in Escanaba. The envelope contains forms which the businessman can use to simplify setting up their figures.

Each year Dun & Bradstreet provides this service for the businessmen of the nation so that they can get their late figures to suppliers, banks and insurance companies, without delay and at no expense.

The breakdown of mailings is as follows: 60% will go to retailers; 11% to manufacturers; 8% to wholesalers, and the balance to construction companies, commercial services and miscellaneous business enterprises.

As a credit agency, Dun & Bradstreet renders a service that is an aid both for buyers and sellers. Its primary function is to assist businessmen to obtain merchandise on credit terms. This work is carried out through the issuance to subscribers of the Reference Book, which shows the name, line of business and credit rating for 2,700,000 businesses. In addition, credit reports are available on all names listed in the Reference Book as well as on several hundred thousand enterprises of a service nature which are not listed in the Reference Book.

Tie Plant Will Close Jan. 15

The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad has sold its tie treatment plant at Escanaba to the P. J. Moss Company of St. Louis, Mo., and the plant will close permanently Jan. 15.

The P. J. Moss Company intends to move the plant elsewhere. The company operates a large tie treatment plant at Grandville, Wisconsin.

The North Western now employs 18 men at the tie plant. The workers are expected to be transferred to dock repair work by the railroad. The railroad intends to nave its tie treatment work done by private wood preservers in the future, it has been indicated.

Nathan J. Frenns First In Holiday Home Decorations

BARK RIVER—First prize in the Bark River holiday home lighting contest was awarded to Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Frenn, second prize went to the Rodger Quists and third to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bergman.

Honorable mention awards will be presented the Arthur Fourniers, Albert E. Johnsons, Bert J. Paquettes and Ernest Poraths.

The entire front and side of the Frenn home was decorated with greens and colorful lights. Shrubbery also was decorated with lights. Stars and wreaths formed the door trim.

A group of choir boys from three to four feet in height, a manger scene and a Christmas tree with lights, flanked by tall candles formed the Quist decorations. The Bergman home was decorated with colored lights and boughs across the entire side and front.

The nativity scene in the village parkway was put up by St. George's Sodality and the Christmas tree and decorations in front of the Community Building were arranged by the Lions Club.

Orpheus To Resume Rehearsals Tonight

The Orpheus Choral Club resumes its rehearsals today at 7 p. m. in the Junior High School music room following a two week vacation after the chorus' Christmas appearances.

Since work will begin on Spring Concert music, Mrs. M. H. Garrard Jr., director of the chorus, requests that not only full present membership attend but also new members who have expressed a desire to enter at this time.

Orpheus is a civic mixed chorus of Delta County residents open to anyone who enjoys singing and who can sing a harmony part. Its membership now stands at 73, but there is room in some sections for additional voices. Any interested person is asked to call Mrs. Garrard at 3241.

Among outstanding numbers going into rehearsal are the choral score of "South Pacific," two spirituals, "Oh, Rocka My Soul" and "Battle of Jericho," the Swedish "Laugh My Friends and Children" and Rossini's "Inflammatus."

There are more than 3,500 species of cockroaches.

ARTHRITIS PAINING YOU? THEN READ THIS

"For rheumatism and arthritis, I'm convinced that O-JIB-WA BITTERS can't be beat," says Mrs. Lewis Eden, 464 S. Main St., Adrian.

"People don't realize what awful pains arthritis can cause until they actually suffer themselves. You people who have painful arthritis will know how I felt for several years; two years of which I was right down with it. I had arthritis terribly in my neck, feet and knees, and my fingers were all puffed up and knotty. My knees hurt bad too, and it was all I could do to get around. I had to pull myself out of a chair and most of the time, could hardly turn over in bed. I tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS after learning of it through my newspaper and although I have tried lots of things, nothing ever helped me like O-JIB-WA. In three weeks I could see some improvement and in a couple of months, I was all better. I can truthfully say that I feel fine now. Because it has helped me so wonderfully, I tell all I meet who suffer from rheumatism and arthritis to get a bottle of O-JIB-WA BITTERS from their druggist and give it a fair trial. Many of my friends say it has helped them, and my mother who is 85 years old is taking it with equally good success. Besides helping my arthritis, O-JIB-WA has proven to be an excellent tonic, as it has helped my nerves and I sleep much better. I'll always have some O-JIB-WA in the house as I'm convinced that O-JIB-WA BITTERS can't be beat."

Congressional Session Opening Wednesday Will Be Interesting

CONGRESS reconvenes Wednesday for an election-year session. It promises to be one of the most interesting congressional sessions since the early days of the New Deal.

President Eisenhower will lack sufficient Republican votes to control Congress and thereby must rely upon Democratic help to carry through his program. And the Democrats, remembering that this is an election year, will strive desperately to prevent the administration from making any political hay.

The President has already made an open bid for Democratic support for the Eisenhower program. Democratic leaders have not been united at all on the policy that the opposition party should pursue in dealing with the administration program. Some Democratic support undoubtedly will be forthcoming, perhaps sufficient to gain approval of most of the President's proposals.

Every major issue before Congress will result in a battle. Even the issue of statehood for Hawaii, supported in the party platforms of both the Republicans and Democrats, promises to result in a fight, with some Democrats already threatening a Senatorial filibuster.

Other issues certain to result in real controversies include: an increase in the federal debt limit, tax reductions, St. Lawrence seaway treaty, labor legislation, military expenditures, farm legislation and others. The political import of each of these issues naturally will be carefully weighed by every congressman.

Since this is President Eisenhower's second year in office, it can be accepted that the political honeymoon, if one actually existed, is now over. The President will have to be prepared for some political buffetting and probably not from the Democratic side alone. His strength as a political administrator will be tested in the months ahead. His popularity with the American people remains extremely high and this strength should prove as a stimulant to him in the give and take of political warfare in this election year.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

A disconsolate husband has taken up his pen to remind me never to underestimate the power of words over women. This is his story:

"Three years ago my wife was very happy with a pretty expensive new fur coat which the clerk had described as a 'sable-dyed coney—you can't tell it from the real thing.' When she sent it to storage that year, the receipt read 'sable-dyed coney.' She didn't mind too much when the receipt the following year read 'brown-dyed coney'—but when this year's storage receipt arrived it read 'brown-dyed rabbit'. Now she wants a new coat."

Poor fellow! You have my sympathy. But the storage warehouse is not being unkind or impolite in so describing your wife's coat. It is simply comforming to revised Government regulations designed to protect the customer in what has been called "the greatest skin game on earth." Because of misleading and sometimes fraudulent labels on furs, the Government now requires simple, accurate names of the animals bearing the fur, together with the name of the country of origin. And even if she bought "sable" at that time, it could have been "Alaska sable," which was merely another name for the common skunk.

It may make your wife feel better to look up "coney" in her dictionary (where it may be entered as 'cony"). She will find that the first definition is probably simply "rabbit."

In department store fur showrooms today you will see these Government-approved names on the labels: broadtail; mouton-processed and Persian lamb; blue, silver and red fox; beaver; chinchilla; leopard and raccoon, and others. Among the furs which you are not likely to encounter today—because they can no longer be masked with fancy-sounding names—are weasel and skunk.

So, if you do have to buy your wife another fur coat, be consoled that you are getting exactly what the label says . . . and you'll be amazed at how many handsome coats in the fur departments today carry the name of the lowly rabbit.

Aid To Pakistan Opposed By India

THE proposal that the United States should help Pakistan arm is one of the most ticklish to come along in many months. For it involves our already badly deteriorated relations with India.

The case for assisting the armament of Pakistan is this:

The most suitable invasion routes leading to the great South Asian lands lie in Pakistani territory. If Russian Communists to the north should ever decide to march, these exposed approaches would be a natural magnet. So the defense of Pakistan is crucial to the defense of the whole region.

Morover, the Pakistans have indicated their willingness to fight if they have the means. They have always been reasonably friendly to the United States and other Western powers, and alert to the Communist peril.

The same cannot be said for neighboring India. The Indian leaders show a strong distrust of America, Britain and France. With their vision warped by old hatreds of colonialism, they see mto see the West a greater menace than Communist Russia. In consequence, neutralism is rampant in India.

This neutralism, too, has a certain foundation in geographic position. Ranged behind the highest reaches of the impregnable Himalayas. India is much safer from invasion than Pakistan.

But India is not willing to see Pakistan equipped to protect the vulnerble avenues of invasion that the Russians could travel through its land.

India sees an armed Pakistan not as a safeguard against communism but as a threat to India. The Pakistanis once invaded disputed Kashmir, and the Indians fear they might move again. The Indian government feels it would have to step up its own armament, at the expense of social and economic programs.

India claims this would play into the hands of the Communists. In fact, leaders there argue that even the mere proposal, through its stirring of anti-American feeling, is a boost to the Red cause.

India's reaction to the military aid plan is so violent and bitter that it seems clear the assistance can be given Pakistan only at the cost of further serious worsening of U. S.-Indian relations.

Questions and Answers

Q—When did the House and Senate move to their present quarters in opposite wings of the U. S. Capitol building?

A—The House of Representatives has been meeting in the South wing of the Capitol since 1857. The Senate moved to the North wing in 1859 from a room in the Capitol later used (though since vacated) by the Supreme Court. Until 1911, the House provided separate desks for its Members, as the Senate still does. But the reapportionment, after the 1910 census, which fixed House membership at the present 435, made it necessary, for space reasons, to remove the desks.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Mr. John Q. Public will be chiefly watching taxes, social security, national defense, and other headline issues as congress gets under way. Backstage, however, two of the most powerful groups in the nation—the American Legion and the American Medical Association—are getting ready for a cutthroat battle against each other that will end up in the halls of congress.

The issue, in effect, is "socialized medicine."

The American Medical Association, which ranks second among registered Washington lobbies, spent $270,174 to influence congress in 1952. The Legion, which ranks eighth, spent $106,235. Both are among the top lobbying spenders to influence congress.

But in this case the battle goes deeper than congress, with the A. M. A. encouraging doctors to infiltrate the Legion as ordinary veterans in order to fight the socialized-medicine battle from the inside. The A. M. A. has even set up a "front" group, the National Medical Veterans Society, to fight the socialized-medicine battle and warns its members to confine their statements to remarks "cleared through the A. M. A. to make sure you all say the same thing."

The Legion in turn has alerted its 18,000 posts to start shooting at the A. M. A. Bluntly, the American Legion magazine warns: "The Legion has definitely lost patience with the American Medical Association's weaving, twisting, opportunistic attacks on the federal system of care for veterans.

"Never before," says the Legion, "had the A. M. A. defined 'socialized medicine' in such a way as to compel America's war veterans to be for it."

NONSERVICE DISABILITIES

What the battle boils down to is a proposal by the doctors to ban free hospital care by the government for nonservice-connected disabilities. In other words, when a veteran gets sick for reasons other than a disability suffered in war, he would be denied treatment in a Veterans Administration hospital.

Actually, this affects not merely the American Legion but about 20,000,000 vets, or 40 per cent of the adult male population of the U. S. A.

To prepare for its campaign to eliminate this medical service, the A. M. A. held a closed-door session at the Sheraton Hotel in Chicago. While the minutes were not made public, this writer has obtained a copy and since they affect 40 per cent of the adult male population, it seems appropriate to quote from them.

Dr. Louis N. Orr of Orlando, Fla., chairman of the closed-door meeting, told the doctors: "We have a tremendous job merely informing our own members—many of them are not sold on the $25 dues to the A. M. A."

PRESSURING CONGRESS

Dr. Joseph D. McCarthy of Omaha, a member of the A. M. A.'s committee of legislation, gave the doctors a peek at A. M. A. lobbying tactics. He explained that his legislative committee has a member assigned to each geographic division of the United States to alert key men in those states on "pressing legislative problems."

These key men, in turn, are responsible for getting in touch with their senators and representatives and "informing them of the medical profession's attitude toward proposed legislation." "This method," Dr. McCarthy added, "has worked amirably in the past."

Dr. Walter B. Martin, president-elect of the A. M. A.'s "front" organization, the National Medical Veterans Society, cautioned doctors against declaring open warfare on the Legion. "Education," he maintained, "is the cornerstone of the campaign."

And as part of that education, he said, "we must encourage physicians to join the American Legion, but to avoid the creation of doctor's posts. By remaining informal (one of the boys), the doctors will be more effective in an ordinary post."

Sentiment at the closed-door meeting was far from unanimous, however, and several doctors spoke up in disagreement.

Dr. William A. O'Brien of Nevada asked if the group thought it would be wise for medical societies to tell the nation's doctors not to care for nonservice-connected cases now in V. A. hospitals.

Dr. Walter B. Martin, president-elect of the A. M. A., warned that any such drastic step would be a fatal error and the doctors would "get our throats cut and get in the doghouse permanently."

One doctor, whose name was not identified in the minutes, asked his fellow doctors what plans they had for treating the 87 per cent nonservice-connected cases.

After warning the doctors that their proposal was impractical, the delegate added: "If the doctors do not know that the American people have a special regard for veterans, the congress does know it."

Town Meeting Keeps Citizens Posted On Their Government

By A. VERNON DAVIS
NEA Special Correspondent

HAGERSTOWN, Md.— (NEA) —Having trouble whipping up public interest in your city government?

Are your county officials giving something less than frank reports on the school building program?

Then perhaps you ought to sit in on Hagerstown's Town Hall Meeting plan.

Started just five years ago in the tradition of the famous New England town meetings, the annual Maryland affair has become a community highlight. The city's mayor and council and the county's board of commissioners sit freely as a panel, answering written questions submitted by the audience.

When the questions get too technical or detailed for the elected officials, they have their immediate deputies—the city and county department heads—available with the books with the facts and figures.

* * *

"We think we have developed something different in the way of a program to arouse citizen interest in local government," says James W. Stone, manager of the Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber, under Stone, developed the Town Hall Meeting and has sponsored the event each year since.

"It is easy to advise people with questions about government to attend a council meeting," Stone explains. "But just how many people are going to go to such a meeting and stand up in public to ask questions? That would be the democratic process, but too many people are timid.

"The Town Hall Meeting idea seems to be the answer. The citizen can write down the questions he wants answered, and unless the question is far off base, he will get a straightforward answer from his elected officials.

"Success of our Town Hall Meeting depends largely on the attitude of the city and county officials themselves. Our local leaders during the past five years have been exceptionally cooperative, answering the questions without the expected hedging."

QUESTION COMING UP: Two young Hagerstown citizens huddle on a query they want answered at city's Town Meeting.

The moderator for each year's program is an important factor. "By the way he handles the incoming questions," Stone says, "he can make or break the smooth flow of honest questions and straightforward answers."

The first meeting was attended by barely 100 citizens. This year the audience taxed the facilities of the hall.

Despite the full coverage by local newspapers of the city and county affairs, each year the Town Hall Meeting brings out facts and figures hitherto unannounced to the public.

This year, for example, local people asked about and were told about: the date a new high school would be started, the type of courses to be offered there; the fact that the County Commissioners feel the local kindergarten should pay for itself out of tuition fees; the fact that the city must act and act fast to develop a long-range expansion program for its municipal electric plant.

A typical meeting starts with a dinner. City and county officials sit at the head table in the big hall, their names printed on cards. The moderator reads each written question as it is passed up from the audience.

If the elected official can answer the question, he does so.

If he can't answer all the details, he calls on one of his department heads. These subordinates sit around a table in front of the head table. They carry with them the files and books containing the details the public is expected to ask about.

Those who feel a particular question was not fully answered may submit a supplemental question. Written slips of paper are collected from among the audience all during the program, to keep fresh ideas flowing into the assembly.

"Good government," says Mayor Winslow F. Burhans, "depends on interested citizens. The Town Hall Meeting makes it possible for interested citizens to ask questions of their elected officials."

New York Airport Has Restful Hotel

By NEA Service

NEW YORK —(NEA) —The brainstorm that hit Louis Ritter, while he fumed away a three-hour delay between planes at La Guardia Airport, was a natural-type idea. And millions of American travelers may someday be very glad he had it.

There sat Ritter, with three hours to kill and nothing to do. He would have liked to lie down, but it was too far into the city and a hotel. "Why don't they have a hotel here?" he asked himself. And, since he was in the hotel business, he answered himself— "No reason, except that nobody thought of it."

* * *

The La Guardia Airport Hotel, a direct decendant of Ritter's fuming, will open in March. It's just across the highway from the main terminal building. There will be 350 rooms, restaurant, cocktail lounge and entertainment. It represents an investment of $4,000,000.

And it's only the first of what Ritter hopes will be a chain of airport hotels across the U. S. and into Canada. He thinks there's a need for them—for passengers grounded by weather or who missed connections or just stuck—and interest so far bears out his theory. Several big industrial concerns have volunteered to rent rooms permanently, but Ritter has turned them down.

A hotel near an airport presents planning problems not faced by the ordinary room-and-bath establishment. It can't be so tall that it's an obstacle to low-flying planes, so the La Guardia Hotel is only two stories high. But it sprawls, covering four acres of a seven-acre site.

And sound-proofing is a must. Anybody trying to sleep near an airport knows that a take-off can be pretty awakening. The La Guardia Hotel will be so effectively sound-proofed, Ritter says, that you'll barely hear the planes.

* * *

For most customers, an overnigh, stay isn't always needed. The rooms will be rented out for a six-hour daytime period, so that you can just go up and lie down chanic tinkers with the plane you're supposed to take.

These nappers are kept constantly advised about plane departures by a loud speaker system in each room. The speaker can be switched off, of course, if the napper decides to do some serious sleeping.

Ritter, who formerly owned two big hotels in New York, has kept the prices down on food and drinks as well as room rent. And he's made the construction and furnishings as modern as possible.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE BEST DRESSED—Well, the Duchess of Windsor fell from first to 10th place among the "best-dressed women of the world" and outside of the best-dressed crowd the fall didn't create even one small ripple.

Through the years we have read annually about the ten best-dressed women and wondered—wondered how much of an honor this was to womankind.

There must be many women who, in 1954, will wear neat but not gaudy clothes and still come out with more in their heads and hearts than all of the 10 best-dressed combined.

But these comparatively plain wives and mothers will make few headlines because of the cut of their coats or the ultra of their decor. Rather they will be notable for wearing last year's coat another year so the family budget will be kept in balance.

* * *

OF FINE FEATHERS—The old saying that fine feathers make fine birds conveys the thought that if you strip away the finery the bird becomes no more than ordinary.

The idea behind the 10 best-dressed list is calculated snobbery, intended to establish a cloth and fur royalty that can be deposed at the whim of the garment specialists who make the fine feathers.

It must be small comfort to the aging Duchess to realize that the tradespeople no longer find her useful to their business—she who had ruled the fashion world and devoted the best years of her life to cultivating the tradespeople.

The cafe society crowd in the big cities may gasp at what the Duchess did or did not wear, but for millions of American women she was no more than a peculiar bird in a field which they never sought to enter or compete for notice.

* * *

THE SELECTIONS — While granting that some of the women named to the "Big Ten" had no control in the selection and perhaps might wish they had been ignored rather than honored, most of them are no doubt flattered. For they circulate only in the fashion world.

We would like to name a few women to the best-dressed list, if the clothing manufacturers will be so kind as to listen. If they do not want to consider our nominations we'll make them anyway.

There is, for example, the lady who has hit upon one of the most unique fashion fads ever to come to our attention. She is a woman who spends considerable time in her garden each summer, but does not like to wear slacks.

This leaves her with a certain problem of stooping over in full view of the street and still appearing ladylike. She accomplishes this by wearing a large apron—and shifting it from front to back when she stoops over!

Such ingenuity should at least rate an honorable mention among the fashion experts. But they are looking for something different to wear in night clubs, not in gardens.

* * *

STRICTLY UTILITY—Another lady we know has worked out an ingenious garment for use in the kitchen, which she describes as an apron but looks more like the top half of a dress with pockets. All she has to do is slip off this over-sized apron when she steps out of the kitchen and she is neatly if not fashionably dressed.

Of course the seekers after the best-dressed honors are not peering into kitchens to find their candidates. Anyone so practical as a lady who can and does cook meals for her family would probably never come to the attention of the fashion experts.

But to our notion one of the handsomest garments in the world is a pretty but practical apron—with a pretty and practical woman inside of it, of course.

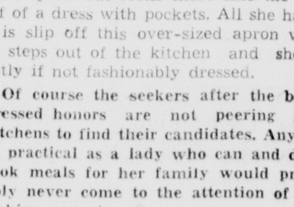

* * *

WOMEN IN WHITE—Most of the women in stores and shops and offices are attractively dressed for their jobs. But to all but the most critical eye the best-looking costume in the world is the uniform of the nurse.

Here is a dress that is all of the sameness—white, collars and cuffs alike on every one, and buttons where buttons should be.

Yet it has style and charm, it signifies service to the sick and the cap is a crown that would bring honor to any duchess if she could qualify to wear it.

The best-dressed women in the world? The fashion people need look no further.

Everett True made the mistake of telling his wife in the beauty shop that she was handsome in a facial mud pack until it was taken off, and she bashed him with his own umbrella.

The Doctor Says . . .

Many Annoying Ailments Have No Bad Effect on Health

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Certainly, enormous numbers of people suffer from unpleasant ailments which do not have any serious significance so far as life or general health are concerned, but which bother them enormously.

Q—My husband has suffered from sweating feet and bad odor practically all his life. Nothing helped until about 10 years ago he tried bathing his feet in formaldehyde solution once a month. Have you any other suggestions? Mrs. W. A.

A—The condition of unpleasantly smelling perspiration goes under the name of bromhidrosis. This can be either general or localized as it is in the case of Mrs. A's husband. Attention should be paid to any subtance in the diet such as onion or garlic which might be excreted in the sweat and give it an offensive odor. Other chemicals besides formaldehyde are sometimes used as footbaths. In a few cases X-ray treatments are found helpful when the condition is localized.

* * *

Q—My eight-year-old boy has been losing his hair in large spots on various parts of his head. How does this happen, and will his hair grow back? Mrs. M. S.

A—This description fits the condition known as alopecia areata, or baldness in spots. The cause is not known, but in the majority, the hair is likely to grow back after a period, perhaps months in length.

* * *

Q—Is there any drug on the market which will stop a person from smoking? G. M. T.

A—Several have been suggested from time to time, and these have their advocates. Personally, I am dubious that there is anything of this sort which works well with everybody, and is safe at the same time.

* * *

Q—What could be the cause of a perirectal abscess which has been troublesome for nearly 10 years? W. L.

A—There are several possibilities, one of them being that the basic trouble is a fistula. Many of these are considered to be of tubercular origin. In all probability, a condition of this kind which has gone on so long will require surgery, perhaps rather extensively, before complete recovery is attaind.

* * *

Q—A friend of mine has a dropped bladder and would like to know if the operation to correct it is a big one. Mrs. G.

A—A correction of such a condition might well take a good deal of time, and certainly skill. If the condition, however, is really troublesome, the operation is probably well worth while.

Women's Activities

Rev. Steen To Assist In New Church Dedication

The Rev. Otto H. Steen, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Marine City, Mich., and formerly of the First Methodist Church of Escanaba, will take part in the dedication of the new Methodist church in Iron Mountain the week of Feb. 7-14. Mrs. Steen will accompany the pastor there and also will participate in the dedication week activities.

Mr. Steen who was in Escanaba nine years before his transfer to Marine City has had splendid success with his new parish assignment and the Church School has grown to the point where it now is rated as one of the largest and finest in the district.

The former Escanaba pastor and his wife hope to be able to visit Escanaba on their trip to the Upper Peninsula in February.

League Of Women Voters Hears Report On Erlandsen Interview

At a meeting of the League of Women Voters last night at Carnegie Public Library a committee composed of Mrs. John Tornberg, Mrs. Victor Powers, Mrs. George Ruwitch and Mrs. Harry Reynolds reported to the group on their interview with Representative Einar Erlandsen.

The committee reported that they discussed the Michigan tax picture and tax legislation which had been passed in the last session of the legislature. Rep. Erlandsen told them that there was a bill providing for uniform county assessment by a county assessor now ready to be presented to the legislature at the coming session. This county assessor bill was drawn up by a sub-committee of the State Educational Finance Study Commission. The chairman of this sub-committee and two of its members are members of the League of Women Voters of Michigan.

Rep. Erlandsen explained that the bill would first go to the Education Committee, of which he is a member, for consideration. The bill is then printed and must be presented to the Senate and House of Representatives before February. This deadline for presenting bills i a new ruling. The bill then goes back to the committee and, if the majority agree, it is presented for discussion on the floor of the legislature. Mr. Erlandsen indicated that he is in favor of county assessment on a state-wide basis.

Financially Sound

On the subject of Michigan's financial picture, Mr. Erlandsen pointed out that the state is now operating in the black. This was accomplished by obtaining approximately $36,000,000 from the business receipts tax, which became a law in July 1953, and by obtaining an advance payment of approximately the same amount from the Corporation Franchise Tax. The total receipts from these two taxes covered the deficit. The schools received their first payment from this revenue in October.

In discussing the various forms of tax legislation Mr. Erlandsen explained that the corporation franchise tax is levied on industries on their stock value, and a new industry coming into the state is required to pay that tax immediately. This tax, it is believed by some will tend to keep new industries from locating in the state.

New industries, which are forced to operate on a small margin of profit for a few years until they are established, might consider the corporation franchise tax on their stock value too great a financial burden. It is alleged that the Kaizer-Frazer plant had intended to locate in Michigan but switched to Ohio to avoid paying this tax.

Gasoline Tax Vetoed

The proposed corporation profits tax, which was not passed by the legislature, levied a tax on business profits rather than their stock value. Thus, it is maintained that a new industry struggling to get a start would likely not make much of a profit for several years and thus would not feel the burden of the profits tax until it was more firmly established.

When asked what had happened to the proposed gasoline tax, Rep. Erlandsen said that the governor had vetoed it. He pointed out that he had originally signed this tax bill, but in committee a clause had been added which stipulated that each township had to match the revenue taken in by gasoline tax in the township. He felt that some of the poorer townships would not be able to raise that much money. Thus, he had his signature stricken from the bill.

Concerning the business receipts tax now in effect, Mr. Erlandsen pointed out that the tax is levied on gross receipts and that all businesses are allowed a 50 per cent exemption for expenses. After that 50 per cent has been deducted each business is also allowed a $10,000 statutory exemption. This tax law is on trial for three years, and Mr. Erlandsen believes that at the end of three years it will be revised somewhat. One defect which is already obvious is that each business is required to make a financial report quarterly which involves large expenditures of time and money. In fact, in some bases the cost of making this report has amounted to more than the tax due from the business.

Election Law Reforms

When asked what he thought about election law reforms, Rep. Erlandsen called attention to the fact that a law had been passed which put the Secretary of State in control of election officials and he is to appoint someone to head up the state elections. Also a law was passed providing for compilation of one code of laws dealing with elections and political parties. He is not in favor of the Massachusetts type of ballot, which lists candidates under the office for which they are running rather than under the political party they represent, because it diminishes party strength.

The next League of Women Voters meeting Jan. 18 will be devoted to the "Know Your County" study.

Glamor -- '54 Model

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What'll it be—curves or straight-aways?

That's the poser on femine glamor for 1954.

Will the queen of glamor girls, Marilyn Monroe, be dethroned in favor of a mere film starter, boyish Audrey Hepburn, 24, who has made only one hollywood movie, and is now working on her second, "Sabrina Fair?"

Some say it is a foregone conclusion.

The highly-touted new movie find lacks some of the conventional requirements thought to be absolutely essential to Hollywood box-office appeal—a voluptuous figure and a dumb baby stare. (Marilyn, for instance, is 5'5" tall with a 37 in. bust, 23½ in. waist and 37½ in. hips.) As a matter of fact, Aurdey is pretty lean in spots—(her hip and bust measurements are secret although Paramount Studios says she is a size 10, 5 ft. 7½ in. tall with a 20 in. waist.) And she is bright. These two unglamorous qualities alone should put her behind the Hollywood eight-ball.

But don't let it fool you. Her own magic potion for bewitching the male sex casts a lovely spell. Says Mark Shaw, who photographed her for two weeks in hundreds of poses for a national magazine:

"Audrey is the most intriguingly childish, adult, feminine tomboy, I've ever photographed."

Shaw, still lost in a maze of contradictory superlatives, says she's "many women wrapped up in one" and it is difficult to be more definite about her attributes.

Model agent John Robert Powers sees Audrey's success due to the "You" or natural look, which is real, rather than the superficial appeal offered by Hollywood's more voluptuous beauties. Says Powers:

"Glamor girls such as Monroe are the kind of girls men think about as dates, not as an institution. Girls like Hepburn or Maggie McNamara or Leslie Caron, who also has the pixie-type of appeal in their own quiet way. They don't flaunt their charms. It's about time Hollywood realized the potential of that kind of allure."

Hollywood's new enigma's lack of curves should not start a trend to the boyish form, however, according to Fletcher D. Dodge, president of the Corset and Brassiere Association. He says:

"Women will continue to make the most of their natural proportions whether they are slender or full-figured, regardless of what Hollywood portrays as glamor."

But supposing boyish figures do become a fad—what will our glamor-girl illustrators do?

AP illustrator Jay Alan, who draws voluptuous looking damsels for a cartoon called "Modest Maidens" says:

"Illustrators change hairdos, clothes and acessories that are possible to change when a new fad or cycle hits. But it would be disastrous to shelve feminine curves. Most men still like to see the feminine form sketched the way they visualize it—revealing curves in scanty attire."

Alan recalls that even during the flapper era John Held, left with nothing more of the form divine than a pair of legs, capitalized on that one asset. He drew gams that were so sexy and curvaceous that his girls looked feminine in spite of boyish bobs and flat chests.

Pretty legs and a beautiful torso are necessary enchantments from the artist's pen. Sex appeal can be furthered, too, by seductive looking tresses.

Hairdresser Victor Vito thinks that Hepburn's hair is perfect for her type, lending further to her charm. Says he:

"She has the type of allure that can wear the simplest, most casual coiffure. She is typical of the ever-popular girls whose charms are not flamboyant. But, occasionally, there is a glamor interlude—Jean Harlow, Jane Russell, Betty Grable, Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, Marilyn Monroe.

"These girls portray sex in varying degrees—platinum or red flowing tresses, gorgeous gams, voluptuous curves. Men find them intriguing for awhile. But then life gets back to normalcy and the American man's real ideal emerges again—an alert, pert, charming, gaminish, mature, sex appeal that creeps up on you, gradually, and doesn't smother you all at once."

MARILYN MONROE . . . The queen of Hollywood glamor girls will have her title challenged by a newcomer to Hollywood.

AUDREY HEPBURN . . . Hollywood's latest find has a new kind of sex-appeal that may dethrone the voluptuous beauties of movieland in '54. (Photo by Mark Shaw from Life Magazine.)

Building Value Higher In City

Although there were fewer new building permits issued in Escanaba last year compared to 1952, the value of the new building was higher, according to a year-end report issued today by Charles Schmidt, city assessor.

The value of the new buildings are the figures supplied by the applicants for city permits. Included are new building such as dwellings and non-residential, and repairs and alterations.

The city assessor's report shows that a total of 98 building permits were issued in 1953 with a total value of $1,153,000.

Included in the valve figure, however, is the New Catholic Central High School, now under construction. Subtracting the $750,000 cost of this project from the total leaves $403,000, which was still above the new building value for 1952.

The valuation of new building in 1952 in Escanaba was $338,650. There were 108 permits issued, however, compared to the 98 for 1953.

Types of new construction for last year and 1952 are as follows:

	1952	1953
Dwellings	34	30
Non-residential	29	32
Repairs- Alterations	45	36
Total permits	108	98
Total Value	$338,650	$403,000*

*Excluding Catholic Central High School.

Soldier Charges Reds Blocked Allied Talks With American POWs

TOKYO (AP)—An American soldier who returned to his countrymen after once rejecting them for communism said today the Red high command ordered him and 21 other Americans to break up Allied efforts to win them back.

Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., said the Reds slipped instructions through a Communist-staffed hospital near the neutral zone camp where the 22 pro-Red American POWs were held.

He said the Reds ordered the Americans not to come out for Allied interviews. They never did.

Made A Mistake

Batchelor spoke at a crowded news conference in Tokyo Army Hospital.

The 22-year-old corporal, who left the North Camp early New Year's Day, said "I made a mistake" in once believing America was the aggressor in Korea.

However, he denied he had ever been an informer on fellow prisoners. He said he hoped he had not influenced anyone and said said that if he had, "I am very sorry for it."

"To prove myself," he said, "I'd like to get some of the other prisoners back."

He said he had been a progressive before the truce was signed. He said he had begun to believe the United States was the agressor after reading Red propaganda.

Wife Writes Letters

Meanwhile, his Japanese wife Kyoko worked on letters to three Americans still in the stockade near Panmunjom.

"Claude says my letters decided him to come back," Kyoko said, "and maybe would help him to get his friends to come back too."

Batchelor asked her not to reveal the names.

The Army said Batchelor probably would remain at the hospital as a patient about 15 days.

While in Camp 5 at Pyoktong, Batchelor said, he was vice president of a "daily life club set up to better our life there." He said not all of the men in the club were progressives and that he got "no special privileges."

"I had no power. I didn't exercise any leadership," he said.

Batchlor said the pro-Red Americans elected him as their leader and, until the day he left, "I still held the job as chief representative."

Asked if he felt he had embarrassed the American people, he replied: "Now I do."

Louisiana Senator Hopes To Cut Down McCarthy's Budget

he will ask the Senate to increase, by an unspecified amount, his committee's $200,000 budget for 1953. He said he wanted to expand the investigative staff. Recently he announced he was broadening his activities to take up the handling of some federal tax cases.

"As far as I'm concerned," Ellender said in an interview, "he should not even get anything like last year's spending authorization. I'm going to make another effort to have it cut down to size."

Ellender for years has contended that most congressional committees spend too much money. But he has had little success in cutting their budgets. He said he will have a lot to say "about this shameful waste of tax money, spending unnecessary sums for unconscionably large staffs."

Activities Overlap

"The committee McCarthy heads is only one of them," he said. "There is too much duplication by all of them, but that is particularly true with the McCarthy committee and the Jenner committee."

That was a reference to the Senate internal security subcommittee headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), set up specifically to search for subversion. McCarthy's group, a Government Operations subcommittee, has blanket authority to examine the spending of any federal money.

Ellender said he will tell the Senate the McCarthy group "has encroached on other committees" by running inquiries he believes should have been handled by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or by Jenner's subcommittee.

Prison Wardens Discuss Escapes

LANSING (AP)—Master blueprints of the riot and escape plans at Michigan's three state prisons will be in the hands of Acting Corrections Director Gus Harrison by Jan. 25.

This was agreed to at a meeting of the wardens and Harrison Monday. Harrison plans to correlate the master plans and present them to the Corrections Commission at its February meeting.

The commission ordered the plans brought in at a special meeting following last month's escape of 13 inmates from Southern Michigan Prison.

The wardens, at the same time, will include their recommendations for future needs in both personnel and material.

After the prison break, the commission ordered a general tightening of security at the prisons and served notice on the prison staffs it would stand for no more excuses in prison disturbances.

At the meeting with Harrison, Wardens William H. Bannan of Southern Michigan Prison, Emory Jacques of Marquette Branch Prison and Garrett Heyns of Ionia Reformatory, a new procedure governing transfers among the prisons was adopted.

Present transfer policies, which had involved only routine checking by the Lansing office, had produced some friction between Bannan and Jacques.

In the future, all transfers will be personally cleared with arrison. In addition, no inmate who has been transferred out of an institution may be transferred back without the warden's approval.

Briefly Told

Butler In Hospital — County Clerk William E. Butler was admitted Monday to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Iron Mountain. A piece of metal in his leg, the result of a war wound, is causing infection.

Civil Service Hearing — The Escanaba Civil Service Commision is scheduled to resume hearing at 4 p. m. Wednesday in City Hall in the appeal of Herbert Carlson, former police sergeant, in connection with his separation from city employment.

Action On Farmer Prices Promised To Aid Prosperity

dence that the program he will request of the session of Congress which opens Wednesday will meet with the approval of the people. He said he hoped it would enlist support in both parties because of "its purpose of promoting the welfare of the people."

Backing Promised

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee predicted that a majority of Democrats will "support a large portion of the program."

On that score, Sen. Sparkman of Alabama, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said that he believes his party members will back any "reasonable" program the President suggests.

"We certainly will help him expand social security coverage, support any move to build up more vigorous foreign trade and join him in any economies that can be effected without impairing our security," Sparkman said.

"The Democrats would welcome a farm program that would work."

No. 6 Dock Being Repaired

About 120 men are at work repairing No. 6 Ore Dock and its approaches, a C&NW spokesman said this morning.

About 15 percent of the winter's contemplated repairs have been finished, the spokesman estimated.

No work is being done on No. 5 Dock, pending further advice from the railroad's headquarters in Chicago.

The workers on Dock 6 are renewing stringers (beams which support the rails) in a section of the approach to the dock; and renewing pocket bottoms in possibly 200 of the 320 pockets where ore is stored while awaiting shipment.

A contractor, employing about 23 men, is building approximately 23 new chutes, down which ore slides into the ore boats. The contractor is repairing 67 other chutes.

Other repair work going on includes repairs to machinery and machinery supports.

Work is going forward under the direction of C. H. Beck, general foreman.

Discount On New Fords Disputed

CHICAGO (AP)—The president of a Chicago mail order house said Monday his plan to sell 10,000 1954 Fords to military personnel at a 17 per cent discount is part of a sales program going back to 1949.

Charles Leggett, head of the National Procurement and Distributing Corp., said he plans to offer similar discounts on Chevrolets, Mercurys, thousands of television sets and other items in a short time.

A Ford Motor Co. spokesman said in Detroit Sunday that the company does not "condone any arrangement" to sell the Fords at a discount.

Since 1949 the Chicago firm has sent out mimeographed bulletins to National Guardsmen, members of the armed forces and active reservists offering bargain prices on "everything except food and clothing."

Leggett said he has purchased Fords in prior years in lots of 200 and offered them under a similar sales program.

However, he said, "We have never done much buying in January of each year. But when market conditions became good I contracted to purchase 10,000 Fords."

He explained that National "buys cars on the open market and sells them as cheaply as possible."

A dealer's gross profit on sale of a Ford normally averages about 25 per cent.

Sales Tax Revenue In Michigan Up 11 Per Cent Over 1952

LANSING (AP)—Michigan sales tax, financial mainstay of many local governments, is maintaining a steady 11 per cent gain over last year.

State Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims said that December collections on November retail business totaled $24,174,000, or $2,387,0000 more than the same month last year.

In the first six months of the fiscal year, starting last July 1, collections reached $144,446,000, or $14,472,000 ahead of the comparable period a year ago.

Tobacco Industry To Check On Theory About Lung Cancer

NEW YORK (AP)—A tobacco industry research committee has been formed by cigarette manufacturers and tobacco groups to investigate whether there is any connection between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

An advertisement appearing in many major newspapers of the nation says the manufacturers believe "the products we make are not injurious to health."

The display advertisement adds, however, that medical research should not be dismissed lightly "even though its results are inconclusive."

Student House Burned In East Lansing Fire

EAST LANSING (AP) — Herrick House, a three-story Michigan State College student cooperative rooming house, was badly damaged by fire and one student was injured early Sunday.

Three residents escaped but Herbert Odom, 20, of Flint, suffered lacerations when he smashed his way to safety through a glass door.

The house normally is occupied by 26 men, but most of them were home for the holidays. Most of their belongings were lost. The fire was believed to have started in the furnace room.

Hong Kong Jails Hold Americans

HONG KONG (AP) — An American just released from a Communist Chinese jail said that Red officials want to free dozens of foreign prisoners but think they can't leave China because their passports have expired.

Arnold Kiehn, 44-year-old China-born American businessman who reached Hong Kong Sunday after three years in a Shanghai jail, said the Reds hold more than 100 foreign prisoners—including some Americans.

Kiehn said he was certain the Reds would release other prisoners if their governments would obtain Hong Kong transit vissas for those whose passports had expired.

Kiehn, who was jailed on trumped-up charges in 1950, told an amazing story of his sudden release:

The prison commandant said he was willing to release me if I could get a Hong Kong entrance permit. He doubted I could get one.

"He let me visit the British consulate in Shanghai and I was back with a visa in 40 minutes. That clinched it."

He actually thought that because my passport had expired I couldn't travel on it."

'54 FORD the "worth more" car declares a dividend

3 distinctive lines — 14 brilliant body styles

YOU JUST OUGHT TO TRY the '54 Ford . . . the car that brings a whole new set of value features to the low-price field. You'll find that each new feature is an extra dividend in driving enjoyment. And each new dividend establishes Ford, even more in '54, as the "Worth More" car.

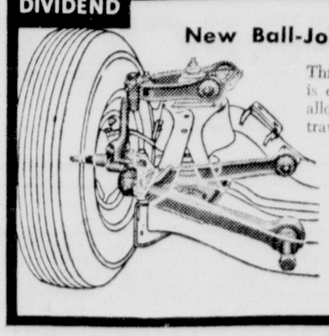

You get a special dividend in styling, for example, with Ford's distinctive new appearance . . . smooth, clean lines. You get sparkling new interiors, too, that are a dividend in themselves. New custom-selected upholstery and trim are color-harmonized with your choice of glamorous new body colors. And Ford's new Astra-Dial Control Panel is not only the most beautiful you've ever seen . . . it's designed for safety, too, with the speedometer located high on the control panel, where it's more nearly in your line of sight.

And each of the new Fords gives you special dividends in ride and performance . . . with new Ball-Joint Front Suspension, the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years . . . with your choice of Ford's new low-friction Y-block V-8 or I-block Six, the most modern engines in any car today! And, as an additional dividend, Ford makes available all the power assists you might expect to find only in the costliest cars.

With 28 brilliant new models to choose from, you'll find the exact car to suit your tastes and requirements. Come in and see the '54 Ford. Test Drive it. Once you try it, you'll want to drive it home.

RIDE DIVIDEND

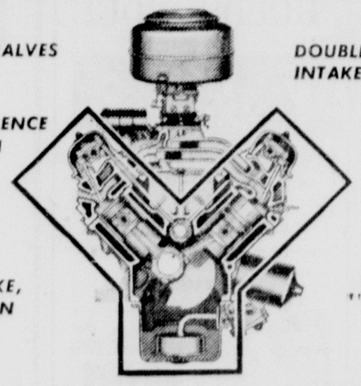

New Ball-Joint Front Suspension

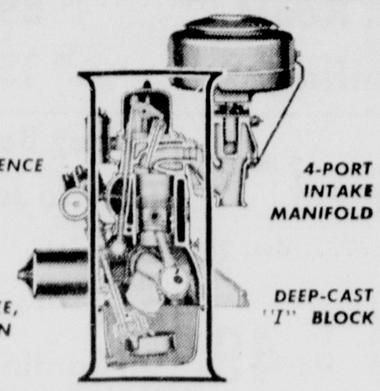

This revolutionary new suspension is exclusive to Ford in its field. It allows greater up and down wheel travel for a smoother ride. And it helps keep wheels in true alignment for consistently easy handling. Movement of the wheels is on ball joints, whether in up and down motion as wheels travel over rough spots, or in steering motion as wheels turn right or left. Lubrication points are cut from sixteen to four.

PERFORMANCE DIVIDENDS

The new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8

The new 115-h.p. I-block SIX

The greatest engine advances since the original FORD V-8

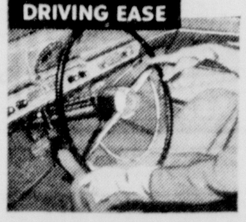

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO Ford introduced to the low-price field a fine-quality precision-engineered V-8 engine. This basic design — soon to become famous throughout the world—quickly established a new standard of performance for low-priced cars. And now, with its 22 years' experience in building over 13,000,000 V-8's, it is only logical that Ford is first in its field to introduce a brand new type of V-8—the Y-block V-8 . . . together with the most modern Six in the industry—the new and advanced I-block Six.

Both new 1954 Ford engines have overhead valves for most efficient high-compression operation on today's fuels. Valves are free-breathing to give you the most GO . . . free-turning to seat tightly and maintain high compression. Both engines have a deep-cast block with skirt that extends well below the crankshaft for greater strength and rigidity . . . smoother, quieter performance and extra-long engine life. Their modern short-stroke, low-friction design cuts friction losses . . . gives you more usable horsepower, more miles per gallon of gasoline. And new high-turbulence combustion chambers assure a more thorough mixing of fuel and air for faster, more efficient firing of fuel.

Plan to Test Drive a '54 Ford. You'll find these new Ford power plants stand out as the greatest engine advances since the original Ford V-8.

Plus five optional power assists* you might find only in America's costliest cars

DIVIDEND IN DRIVING EASE

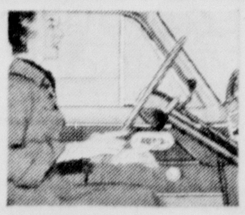

Master-Guide Power Steering

It does up to 75% of your steering work for you, when you need it . . . makes "tight spot" parking a pleasure. Yet it leaves you with the normal feel of steering on the straightaway.

Swift Sure Power Brakes

Power does up to one-third of the work of stopping your car for you! You are far less fatigued . . . much more relaxed in the stop and go driving of today's congested traffic.

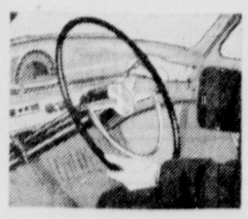

Power-Lift Windows

Smooth, silent electric power opens or closes windows at the touch of a button. There's a master control on left front door beside driver plus an individual control under each power window.

4-Way Power Seat

You push one of two controls and the front seat goes up or down . . . push the other and it goes front or back. It's a real convenience when different-sized people have to drive the same car frequently.

Fordomatic Drive

Gives you the most versatile automatic shifting ever. You get the smoothness of a fluid torque converter, the "go" of an automatic intermediate gear. Ford also offers gas-saving Overdrive.

GLADSTONE

Fire Victim Was Sister Of Local Resident

Mrs. Laura VanMill of Gladstone has returned from Crandon, Wis., where she attended funeral services for her sister, Mrs. Mae Gerow, 71, who was fatally burned in a fire which destroyed her farm home near Crandon a week ago Sunday.

The blaze apparently started from a gasoline stove put into use when fuel for the regular range became exhausted. Mrs. Gerow got out of the house and called her sons who were in a barn nearby but before they came she reentered the house for some unknown reason. One of the sons entered the flaming structure, found her on the floor and carried her to a window where he handed her to the other son.

She was removed to the hospital at Rhinelander where she died about six hours later.

Surviving are six sons, nine sisters, three brothers, a grandchild and two great grandchildren. Her husband died 12 years ago.

Funeral services were held in the Catholic church in Crandon Thursday and burial made in the Crandon cemetery.

Medal Comes Late For War Veteran

HAGERSTOWN, Md., (AP)—Rush Rinehart got a medal from the Republic of Cuba—50 years after he earned it.

Several years after the Spanish-American war, an appropriation for medals was made by the Republic so it could honor veterans like Rinehart. However, the money ran out and the awards were discontinued.

About a year ago, Rinehart heard a new appropriation had been passed. He applied for his medal and received it last month.

Juvenile Offenses 'Not Serious' In 1953, Judge Says

Nine petitions for juvenile delinquency were submitted in probate court in Schoolcraft County during 1953, Probate Judge John S. Faketty, reported today.

No delinquent children were placed in vocational schools during the year, Faketty said, but a half dozen were placed on probation, in addition to those on whom petitions were submitted.

"None of the offenses was of a serious nature," Faketty stated. He emphasized that the juvenile court "is not concerned with what the offense was, but rather in the reason why the youngster did it."

Delayed Registrations

Probate court during the past year also handled committments to mental hospitals on 11 Schoolcraft County cases; had six guardianship cases; and three adoption procedings, which are still pending.

Twenty-seven regular estate proceedings were conducted by the office; determination of legal heirs was made in eight cases; and determination of survivorship was made in 15 cases.

Delayed birth registrations were completed for 28 persons, Faketty noted. Most of these were for persons who needed to establish their age for Social Security or pension benefits.

Population 9,148

Documentary evidence, such as baptismal certificates, school enrollment papers, army discharges, and marriage certificates, are submitted by persons who are "proving that they were born," as well as affadavits by two persons who knew the petitioner before the latter was five years old, the probate judge explained.

Also handled in probate court during the past year were 32 cases in which parents of children obtained state aid to meet children's medical and hospital costs through funds from the Michigan Crippled Children's commission. Parents repay the state on a time-payment plan afterwards, he said.

The county had a total population of 9,148 persons in the 1950 federal census.

Minor Is Fined For Having Beer In Automobile

Richard Wallace Miller, 20, of 622 Park Ave., paid a fine of $35 and court costs of $5 in justice court Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of transporting and possessing beer in his car.

He was arrested Saturday night by state police.

Alternative in the sentence was 15 days in jail.

Wake Up To More Comfort
Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Plan New Year Musical Show For PTA Meeting

Lincoln-Riverside PTA will hold an indoor picnic when it meets Thursday, Jan. 7, at the Lincoln School gymnasium.

Wichita Runs Season Record To Fat 12-1

DETROIT (AP)—Wichita, riding a 12-1 season record, counted on a last minute hook shot by a reserve center Monday night to win its first Missouri Valley Conference basketball start over University of Detroit 77-75 in overtime.

It took a 30-point third period to give Wichita a chance against the Titans who led at the half 35-31 and ruled most of the second period. The score was tied three times in the overtime with Bob Hodgson's winning tally coming with barely three seconds left.

St. Joe Girls Beat Stephenson 40-22

The St. Joe girls basketball team posted a 40-22 victory over the Stephenson girls team here last evening with Pat Rooney leading the winners with 11 points.

The visitors were paced by Joanne Wood who scored 10. A return game will be played at Stephenson on Jan. 18.

In the preliminary the St. Joe 7-8th graders beat the Stephenson juniors 49-17.

Cooks Defeats Grand Marais

COOKS—Coach Bob Thibault's Cooks cagers had little trouble defeating Grand Marais here last night by a 64-51 margin in a game moved up one night because of the U. P. Central League reserve team tournament which opens tonight at Rapid River.

The win was the sixth in seven starts for Cooks and the fourth in succession. John Jacques led Cooks with 16 points but Grand Marais' Ken McDonald took scoring honors with 20.

Burton Peterson, back in action after being suspended early in the season for fighting following a game with Rapid River, chipped in 12 points for the winners.

The Cooks 7th-8th grade team beat the Grand Marais juniors 32-13 in the preliminary.

Archers Meet Thursday Night

First meeting of the Senior Archery Club will be held at Club 314 Thursday at 7:30 p. m., it was announced today by Carl Johnson, president.

All old members are urged to attend the organizational meeting and any new persons interested are invited to be there. An incerase in membership is expected this winter. There were 42 members last year.

New facilities for the archers are installed in the Club gym. Included are a new backstop and new targets.

Wally Arntzen is vice president of the club and Franny Lueneburg is range master.

Thirty junior archers are scheduled for a meeting Thursday at 3 p. m. and again Friday at 7 p. m. Anyone interested may join the program.

HOLE-IN-ONE

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Merle Hutton was playing in a group of 13 golfers at Washtenaw County Club. On the 130-yard 13th hole Hutton was the 13th to shoot and his drive landed in the cup for his first hole-in-one in 35 years of golfing.

Cage Ratings Shaken But Kentucky Keeps First Place Spot

NEW YORK (AP) — Duquesne gained 69 points on Kentucky in this week's Associated Press basketball poll but the Wildcats still held first place by 81 points.

Duquesne's sweep through 11 straight games and the Garden Holiday Festival in New York sent the Dukes' stock soaring. Duquesne and Kentucky both won again Monday night after the polls closed. The Wildcats have won 8, Duquesne 12.

Indiana stayed in third place and Minnesota in sixth but the rest of the positions underwent a shakeup. Oklahoma A&M, winner of the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City, moved up from fifth to fourth, and Western Kentucky, seventh a week ago, jumped to fifth after winning the Louisville Invitational. Western has won 12 straight.

Holy Cross took seventh place as it ran its record to 8-0 in winning the Sugar Bowl Tournament at New Orleans.

Duke, winner of Raleigh's Dixie Classic, was unranked a week ago, but placed eighth in the voting by 99 sports writers and broadcasters.

The results, with first - place votes in parentheses:

1. Kentucky (36)	805
2. Duquesne (19)	725
3. Indiana (4)	558
4. Oklahoma A&M (12)	443
5. Western Kentucky (6)	381
6. Minnesota (3)	326
7. Holy Cross (5)	218
8. Duke	186
9. Oklahoma City	121
10. Oregon State (1)	105

The second ten: Rice; George Washington (9) and Niagara tied; Dayton; Illinois Seattle and Kansas tied; Navy; Vanderbilt, and N.C. State

Pioneers Provide Opposition For Hawks Here On Wednesday

The Portage Lake Pioneers, defending Northern Michigan Hockey League champions, will provide the opposition for the Escanaba Hawks here Wednesday night. Face-off time is 8:15.

The Hawks, still seeking their first win in league action, have undergone a lineup shuffle in an effort to get more scoring punch on the ice.

Escanaba will open the game with a revised line composed of Bill Suriano at center, Buddy Provo at left wing and Doug Peterson at right wing.

"These boys have looked good in practice this week and have earned the No. 1 line spot," Coach Mark Olson said this morning. Provo has developed rapidly and his play has been outstanding for the Hawks in recent games. Peterson has rounded into better playing condition and Suriano has been a steady performer.

That lineup leaves Ted and Mark Olson and Joe Ricci on a potent second line and Bob Bizeau, Bill Buckland and John Cousineau on a third line. Bob Higgins and Hank Norman will be spares.

Starting on defense will be Hubert Hamilton and Jim Ogle. Clarence Matt and Dick Johnson will be available for duty.

Ben Artwich, Stambaugh goalie, will be in the Escanaba nets in place of Fred Hansen who served as goalie in the last Hawks' start Sunday afternoon.

At Full Strength

The Pioneers will be back at full strength for the game here. High-scoring Tony Bukovich, who was injured in the last meeting of the two teams, is ready to return to action. So are Joe Bukovich, the two teams, is ready to return to action. So are Joe Bukovich, Gumps Juntunen and Doug Koski who have all been on the injured list recently.

Most of the Pioneers are old faces at the fair grounds rink. Jackie and Bernie Ruelle will be showing their wares and Clyde Berriman will be in the nets for the visitors.

In their one previous meeting this season the Pioneers came out on top of a 6-3 score.

Pick Bucceroni Over Ten Hoff

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Philadelphia's Dan Bucceroni, a 2-1 favorite, and Germany's Hein Ten Hoff tonight box a 10-rounder which could increase the crowd hunting a try at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight title.

The bout, which will jam an expected capacity 7,156 into the Milwaukee Auditorium, will not be televised or broadcast.

If the rangy, 215-pound Ten Hoff, former European heavyweight champ, should upset Bucceroni, an offer stands ready to bring Marciano to Berlin for a summer title defense against the 32-year-old Hamburg veteran.

Joachim Goettert, Berlin promoter, Monday wired Ten Hoff's manager, Fred Kirsch, he would dangle a "sizeable sum" to lure Marciano to a defense in Berlin's Olympic Stadium.

The 26-year-old Bucceroni, 190, who like Ten Hoff has lost only three pro bouts, however, hopes to use the German as a spring board to a Miami title bout with Marciano in February or a summer meeting wherever the cash might grow the greenest. Bucceroni currently ranks the No. 4 challenger.

Reserved Seat Tickets For Weekend Cage Games

Basketball fans will have an opportunity to purchase reserved seat tickets to both Escanaba and St. Joe home games this weekend, athletic directors of the two schools announced this morning.

When the Escanaba Eskymos play host to Gladstone Friday night, there will be 200 reserved seats in the center section of the bleachers on the west side of the Junior High gymnasium. The remaining 400 bleacher seats will not be reserved.

Reserved seat tickets will also be sold for the St. Joe-Green Bay Catholic Central game here Saturday night. Season ticket holders will have preference, but must pick up their tickets by Thursday.

Sale of the reserved seat tickets for the Escanaba-Gladstone game will begin at noon Wednesday. Tickets will be available at the Escanaba Senior High office and at the office of Superintendent Wallace Cameron in Gladstone.

The St. Joe tickets will be on sale at the St. Joseph rectory starting at noon tomorrow.

Grid Coaches Meet TV Heads

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Assn., after a day of dilly-dallying in executive committee sessions, gets down to business today at its 48th annual convention.

The American Football Coaches Assn., and the NCAA television committee, are slated for executives sessions, but no drastic recommendations for changes are expected from either.

The coaches, with 1954 rules topping their agenda, are expected to string along with the one-platoon system.

The only fight against the current restricted television program appears to be coming from the Big Ten conference. The Big Ten would like to have one of its football games televised on a regional basis each Saturday.

The television committee will submit its recommendations to the NCAA business session Friday. The coaches will offer any rule change suggestions to the NCAA rules committee which meets Jan. 11 in Sarasota, Fla.

High Jump Eight? He Does It Backwards

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Illinois may produce the track sensation of the century — a high jumper who can clear eight feet and goes over the bar backwards!

He's Dickie Browning, Illini junior from Dallas, Tex., for two years the national AAU tumbling champion.

Browning's gymnastic specialty is a running forward hand spring, a roundoff, a flip-flop and, finally with a terrific momentum built up, a backward double somersault.

To reach the double somersault climax, Browning shoots high into the air. He practices the trick as a matter of routine dozens of times a day. His timing is perfect.

Charley Pond, his Illini coach, says:

Has Reached Eight Feet

"Dickie has reached eight feet a number of times at the top of this double backward somersault. He could go over the high jump bar while doing it."

The world's high jump record 6-11½ set last June by Walt Davis, 6-8 Texas A & M basketball star in the National AAU meet.

Illini track coach Leo Johnson was a bit dubious about Browning's high jumping aspiration but now has fallen in with the idea and is ready to combine with coach Pond in grooming the champion tumbler.

One technical point to overcome is to have the 5-9 Browning take off on his double somersault on one foot. The high jumping rule stipulates: "A fair jump is one in which the competitor jumps from one foot."

Old Rule Rescinded

An old rule, rescinded several years ago, would have killed off Browning's chances. It prohibited "diving" over the bar, requiring that a jumper's foot must always precede his head and body over the bar.

"I think with training, Dickie can clearly—enough to satisfy the judges — take off on one foot in accordance with the current high jumping rules," said Pond. "It will be easy for him to get his timing down, like regular high jumpers, to hit his peak height at the right place, above the bar.

At Rules' Meeting

Johnson is attending the NCAA meeting in Cincinnati this week and planned to check with various track officials on the possibility of a recognized high jump record if accomplished by Browning. There is nothing in the present rules to prevent it.

At any rate, Johnson should get a big kick out of watching his coaching colleagues listening with open mouths as he relates:

"I've got a high jumper who approaches the crossbar with a dizzying series of pinwheels, then shoots up into the air and somersaults over the eight foot mark — backwards!"

City League Games On Tap Thursday

A pair of games Thursday night at the Escanaba Junior High School gym will open action in the Escanaba City League basketball program.

Scheduled for action at 7 are Skinny's Bar and Paper Mill. The finale at 8 will pit Rapid River against Mike's Bar.

Pancho Gonzales Is Pro Tennis Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—Pancho Gonzales won the $4,000 top prize of the opening "tournament" of Jack Kramer's 1954 professional tennis tour by whipping Pancho Segura 7-9, 6-4, 6-4 in Madison Square Garden Monday night.

Frank Sedgman won the consolation round with a 6-4, 6-2 victory over ancient Don Budge.

Kentucky Runs Home Win Streak To 116

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's home court winning streak rolled past the 10-year mark with Monday night's 77-71 victory over Xavier of Ohio.

It was No. 116 in a string started after Ohio State downed the Wildcats 45-40 on Jan. 2, 1943.

Three Sophomores Have Put New Life In Wolves

By JOE FALLS

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Three sophomores have injected life into the University of Michigan basketball corpse.

For the last four years basketball was considered the dead sport at Michigan. The Wolverines went through four straight losing seasons in the Big Ten, and the crowds stayed away from Yost fieldhouse in large numbers.

Bill Perigo took over as head coach last year and things started to happen.

Match Win Total

Now three sophomores — Jim Barron, Tom Jorgensen and Harvey Williams — apparently have done a job.

Michigan won only six games at season. The Wolverines have matched that total already and still have 13 games left.

They ran their record to 6-3 Monday night by holding off Ohio State, 85 to 76, in a Big Ten contest before about 4,500 spectators It gave the Wolverines a 1-1 record in conference play.

Perigo's lads almost didn't make it against the Buckeyes, who roared from a 13-point deficit going into the final quarter to 68-67 with about six minutes left to play.

Ties Conference Mark

Barron kept Michigan from falling to pieces by pitching in a field goal and six free throws in addition to setting up two other baskets. His play sent Michigan into a comfortable lead.

Williams a 6-foot-8 center, scored 24 points while Jorgensen netted 11.

Ohio State's Paul Ebert, fired in 35 points for the Buckeyes. He dropped in 13 of 13 free throw attempts, tying a Big Ten record.

Clear Road For Hoosiers, Wildcats But Not Indiana

NEW YORK (AP) — It looks like pretty clear sailing now for Kentucky and Duquesne, two of basketball's big three, but Indiana has a rough road to travel.

Kentucky, leading in the Associated Press poll, defeated a stubborn Xavier of Ohio team 77-71 Monday night while Duquesne was beating Dayton 70-52. Indiana, meanwhile, had its second successive close shave in Big Ten competition before downing Wisconsin 70-67.

Kentucky, with eight straight victories has only De Paul and Vanderbilt to worry about. De Paul is always tough in the Chicago Stadium and Vandy upset Kentucky three years ago in the Southeastern Conference tournament. But they shouldn't prove any more troublesome than Xavier, which outscored Kentucky in the second half but couldn't catch up from an early 22-point deficit.

Has Return Game

Duquesne, ranked just behind Kentucky, is threatened by a return game with Dayton and another match with Niagara, a recent five-point victim of the Dukes.

Dick Ricketts scored 24 points against Dayton in victory No. 12 for the unbeaten Dukes.

Indiana, which went down to the final seconds against Michigan Saturday night, ran up a 15-point lead against Wisconsin, then had to play strict possession ball to stop a Badger rally. Big Don Schlundt, playing in the corners instead of his accustomed pivot spot, dunked in 29 points for the Hoosiers.

Indiana has two games against sixth-ranked Minnesota and also has a game on tap with Illinois, a 66-65 winner over Northwestern Monday night. The Hoosiers' Saturday night date in Minneapolis should tell the story.

Sub Wins Game

Sophomore guard Bill Ridley, a substitute, scored a field goal and free throw in the waning seconds to give Illinois the points it needed against Northwestern. Hal Grant of Northwestern missed a vital free throw as the game ended.

The Illini were paced by John Kerr, who scored 27 points.

Iowa won its Big Ten opener, beating Michigan State, also in its debut, 73-63, and Michigan surprised Ohio State, another first-time-out team, 85-76.

Iowa took a 15-point lead over Michigan State late in the third quarter and held a comfortable margin thereafter. Deacon Davis and Carl Cain, two boys from Freeport, Ill., shouldered the Iowa scoring load with 17 points apiece.

Sophs Key Success

Sophomore Harvey Williams was the big gun in Michigan's victory over Ohio State, scoring 24 points, but another sophomore, Jim Barron, contributed vital points in the final quarter. The Buckeyes were trailing by only one point, 68-67, when Barron put the Wolverines out of danger with eight straight points.

The Bucks' Paul Ebert scored a whopping 35 points on 11 field goals and 13 free throws without a miss.

Big Ten games Saturday are Illinois at Michigan State, Indiana at Minnesota, Wisconsin at Iowa, Michigan at Northwestern and Purdue at Ohio State.

Ohio State plays Pittsburgh in a nonconference game Wednesday.

Kansas Wins Opener

Kansas, which bowed to Indiana in the NCAA final last year, began defense of the Big Seven title Monday by squeezing past Oklahoma 76-72; Duke, No. 8 team in the country, rolled along in the Atlantic Coast Conference by flattening South Carolina 89-69; and Wichita won its Missouri Valley opener with a 77-75 overtime victory over Detroit.

In other Big Seven openers, Nebraska defeated Iowa State 74-60 and Colorado downed Missouri 66-62.

Bill Slattery of Navy stole the ball and fired in a basket to give Navy a 67-66 edge over Princeton.

Fordham poured in 33 points in the final period to overwhelm New York University 87-60, Maryland beat Richmond 72-64, De Paul downed Quincy, 99-62, and Drake defeated Chicago Loyola, 92-83.

Celtics Move Closer To Knickerbockers

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Celtics moved to within 2½ games of the New York Knickerbockers, eastern division leaders of the National Basketball Association, by defeating the Baltimore Bullets Monday night 77-73 for their fifth straight victory. Bob Cousy scored 25 points for the Celts.

Rochester downed Minneapolis 85-84 in the circuit's only other game. The victory put the Royals only a half game behind the Lakers, who top the western division.

Chicago Cubs Hope Three Negro Rookies May Solve Problems

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Three Negro rookies may solve the Chicago Cubs' biggest problem next season.

The purchase of infielders Ernie Banks and Gene Baker last September and the drafting of outfielder Luis Marquez from Toledo could give the Cubs a strong second base combination for the first time in many years.

Manager Phil Cavaretta is counting on Banks to be his regular shortstop. He thinks Baker, who played shortstop at Los Angeles last year, can make the successful switch to second. Marquez batted .292 in the American Association but rapped 13 homers, drove in 81 runs and stole 37 bases. He is a ball hawk in the outfield.

Banks, who will be 23 at the end of this month, hit .314 in 10 games for the Cubs and smashed two homes followings his purchase from the Kansas City Monarchs. The 28-year-old Baker didn't hit quite as well in a Chicago uniform last fall but he walloped 20 homers and drove in 99 runs on a .284 batting average on the coast.

In all 19 rookies will report to the Cubs' spring training camp at Mesa, Ariz., next month. While none has a very impressive minor league record, director of player personnel Wid Matthews is very optimistic about their chances.

"Lack of depth ruined us last season, when every misery and misfortune in the book beset us," Matthews said. "We just didn't have the reserve strength to ride out the storm successfully."

Practically all of the newcomers are products of Los Angeles, Springfield and Des Moines, all farm clubs of the Cubs. Eight are pitchers. The best record is owned by Don Watkins, 28-year-old righthander who won 14 and lost nine at Des Moines. Another righthander, 26-year-old Bob Zick, had a 14-12 record at Des Moines. Bob Hartig, 23, won four and lost nine but his luck wasn't too good as he lost two out of four two-hitters he pitched.

Figures Way To Find Netters

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—A new scheme to help the United States win back the Davis Cup from Australia has been suggested by Jack Kramer, one of America's greatest stars.

The pro ace who only a few years ago ruled the amateur game offered to contribute $7,500 and two months of his time in an effort to develop young players.

The plan sounds practical if the United States Lawn Tennis Assn.—the governing body of the amateur game—approves.

Kramer figures he will visit about 85 cities on his professional tour in the next five months. At each stop he would like to have the local professional or school coach bring a group of the most talented youngsters to him. He, along with Pancho Segura, Pancho Gonzales and Don Budge, would choose the best for special attention.

After the tour, he would take the eight top prospects to camp for an entire summer of coaching.

Gordie Howe Leading Pro Hockey Scorers

MONTREAL (AP)—Detroit's Gordie Howe, the National Hockey League's leading scorer the past three seasons, again is well out in front in the running for the Art Ross trophy—and the $1,000 that goes with it.

Howe, 25-year-old right winger, picked up three points last week, all on assists, to bring his total points to 44. Teammate Ted Lindsay, his closest competitor, also gained three points and now has 37.

Harry Lumley of the Toronto Maple Leafs is the leading netminder with a goals-against average of 1.55 per game.

Merchants Win 84-42 Over Gulliver Quint

MANISTIQUE—The Merchants walloped Gulliver by an 84-42 margin in last night's City League action.

The five Merchant starters all hit in double figures, with Paul Hinkson's 27 points topping the list. Richards hit 15, Hough 14, Danko 12 and Berger 10. Brandstrom added six as a reserve center.

For Gulliver, Schnurer set the scoring pace with 20 points.

Amish Farmers Never End Up In Poorhouse

WASHINGTON — In mid-20th century America there still exists a group of plain, prosperous, and non-conforming people whose way of life, based solidly upon their religious beliefs, remains much as it was 200 years ago.

They are the Amish. They wear sober garb of ancient cut topped by wide-brimmed black hats and bonnets, speak their own language, drive square - topped buggies along country roads, and rank among North America's finest farmers, the National Geographic Society says.

School Versus Farming

As happens nearly every year in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, a number of Amishmen recently spent three days in jail for keeping their children over 14 home from school. To the Amish, learning to farm is the best education for sons who under their faith will inevitably be farmers.

Their impasse with Pennsylvania's school laws is one of the few situations in which Amish become involved with courts for any reason, or with an outside world that they would rather accept peaceably.

The Amish, followers of the teachings of Jacob Amman, are an off-shoot of the much larger Mennonite faith. Their heritage traces back to the 16th century Reformation when their forefathers were persecuted for their religious convictions.

Together with the Mennonites, Amish began migrating to America from the Palatinate, Alsace-Lorraine, and the Low Countries in the years after 1730. Another wave followed the Napoleonic wars of the early 1800's. Today there are between 30,000 and 40,000 Amish in the United States and Canada. The largest settlements are in Ohio, Indiana, and Pennsylvania, in that order, but there are other groups as far west as Oregon and in Ontario. There are no more in Europe.

Over the last century splits have developed in Amish communities as various groups accepted more modern farming methods, costume, and household conveniences. But even today the Old Order or Conservative Amish do not have electricity or telephones in their homes. They use horses for both plowing and transportation, and retain the same hook-and-eye clothing their ancestors wore.

The Bible And The Soil

They live by Biblical tenets. Their sole aim is to be decent, upright people and first-rate farmers, and they are both. Some Amish now worship in churches and use automobiles, but the Holuse Amish have neither. They choose ministers by lot; their "Ausbund", dating from 1564, is the oldest Protestant hymnbook still in use.

The Amish are only one of several sects who speak Pennsylvania Dutch, an odd mixture of low German and Anglicized expressions. Though they can also speak perfect English, in the home they retain a purer form of the old dialect than perhaps any other "Dutch" denomination.

At marriage the men grow beards and change from open buggies to those with tops. They receive farms by family purchase or division of land, with the result that farmland in Amish communities soon becomes extremely valuable. There is good reason, for in all America there are few people who tend the soil more carefully, often restoring worn-out land to richness by crop rotation, fertilization, and good farming practices.

Contrary to popular notions the Amish are neither misers nor extremely rich. They borrow money and keep bank accounts, although they like to buy by cash. They pay taxes willingly Their needs are simple, and they have a matchless "social security" assured by family unity and community self-sufficiency. There has never been an Amishman in the poorhouse.

Rock

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ackerman and family, Waukegan, Ill., Miss Lois Norden, Chicago, and Lee Norden, Waukegan, spent part of the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Norden.

Mr. and Mrs. Dona LeClaire, Eunice and Ralph, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Seyring in Gwinn recently.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of David O. Hearn, who passed away Jan. 5, 1953.

There is someone who longs for you night and day,
There is someone who is sad since you went away,
There is someone you filled with sunshine,
Who now has a broken heart.
The broken link will never be replaced,
Death leaves a heartache nothing can heal.

Sadly missed by

Draft Call Only 918 In Michigan

LANSING (AP)—Michigan was ordered Monday to send 918 men for induction into the armed services in February, the smallest draft call in more than a year.

Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state selective service director, said the call is for 210 men less than in January.

Wayne County will provide 354 men and the outstate counties 564.

The call by counties:

Alger none, Baraga none, Chippewa 4, Delta 5, Dickinson 4, Gogebic 3, Houghton 7, Iron 2, Keweenaw none, Luce 2, Mackinac 2, Marquette 5, Menominee 3, Ontonagon 3, Schoolcraft none.

Fathers Of 14 Drown On Oregon Coast

WALDPORT, Ore. (AP) — Four men, the fathers of 14 children, apparently drowned on windswept Alsea Bay on the Oregon Coast, state police reported Sunday.

They were identified as Lyle Marion King, 44, the father of five children; Henry Lee King, 24, the father of three; Alton Robert King, 42, the father of two; and Loren McWhorter, 25, the father of four.

The Kings were brothers. The four left Waldport in a rented boat to a point across the bay. The boat was found on the beach upside down. Police believed heavy weaves had overturned it.

Programs Started Over Cadillac TV

CADILLAC (AP)— Television set owners in northern lower Michigan now have their own television station programs.

WWTV, Cadillac, operated by the Sparton Broadcasting Co. on channel 13, began operation Sunday night. The station, Michigan's newest, signed on at 6:20 p. m. and signed off at 10:30 p. m.

Mistaken Identity In Mixup Of Cows

CHATHAM, Va., (AP)—A farmer was accused of taking a neighbor's cow. He explained that he had found his missing cow—or the animal he thought was his— in the neighbor's pasture. He asked the jury to step out on the courthouse square and examine the two cows.

The jurors couldn't tell one from the other. The farmer was acquitted. He and his neighbor took their cows home—or so they believe.

DECEPTIVE

The frog-mouth, an Australian bird, sleeps during the day in an upright position, thereby resembling a tree limb and making itself inconspicuous. The bark-colored feathers of the bird help to carry out this deception.

Music, Food And Art: Milwaukeean's Career

MUSIC WITH GROCERIES—Sol Shapiro tunes up his trusty violin in his delicatessen store.

AP Newsfeatures

MILWAUKEE—Music has been Sol Shapiro's profession for 40 years. He has run a delicatessen store for the past eight years to bolster his income. Now, nearing 60, he also is turning artist to round out a happy life.

Sol plays the violin and leads a small orchestra. He worked in movie theaters until talkies killed live music there. When live musical shows come to town he still leads the orchestra or plays the violin. There have been chances to play with major symphony orchestras, but he wanted to live in Milwaukee. Once, he went to Hollywood, but there he visited a friend in one of the studios who took a pill every little while for his cronic indigeston.

Salami Important

"So I said to myself that Hollywood is no place for a man like me who enjoys his salami."

The need for money, not his appetite for salami, was the reason for his delicatessen. It has proved a small bonanza, he says.

He explains his art this way:

"In the old days, when I was playing the violin better than I do now, I would go through a favorite piece of music and make it sound just as it should. When I played the piece again, something would be lost and I might never recapture it.

Art Is Durable

"With painting it is different. There it is on canvas and I can look at it as often as I like." As a painter, he says, he aims to be a "primitive with a professional touch."

In painting he has not drifted entirely away from music. One of his pictures shows the gleaming wood of a violin melting into melody and drafting away as the spirit of the instrument. He has done a similar study of the piano.

"My advice to anyone who wants to get away from things is to take up work with oils, water colors or charcoal," he says. "He doesn't have to be good at it, only patient. The hours will slip by like minutes and frustrations will disappear."

PICKS HER COMPANY

BOONVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Davis stopped here recently, walking houth for the winter with her 10 dogs—three old ones and seven little pups only a few weeks old.

She pays her way by selling things she crochets en route.

She travels with dogs because "Dogs are better than people," she says.

Blast Loss $350,000 In Pottsdown, Pa.

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — An explosion followed by fire rocked the heart of the business district in downtown Pottstown Monday destroying the F. W. Woolworth Co. store and causing an estimated $350,000 in damages.

No one was injured or killed. The blast and fire came a half hour before the store was to open for business.

Fire Chief Richard L. Lindauer, who estimated the damage, said the Royal Jewelry Co., next door to Woolworth lost its entire stock in the flames.

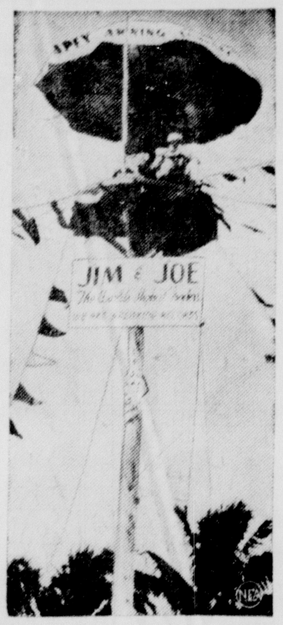

Lindauer said the explosion was caused by illuminating gas.

Big Year Predicted In Furniture Business

CHICAGO (AP) — The president of the American Furniture Mart predicted at the opening of the 30th annual winter furniture market Monday that 1954 will be one of the four best year for the industry.

Lawrence H. Whiting said the same elements which made 1953 a record business year will produce about 14½ billion dollars in sales volume in 1954.

These include, he said, a steadily growing population, employment, high wages and a high amount of disposable income.

AFTER THE TITLE — James A. Martin is out to cop the champion flagpole-sitting title. Perched on a tiny platform atop a 40-foot pole in Miami, Fla., Martin aims to stay one year. The flagpole-sitting record, set by a woman, is 152 days.

MINT TESTS

Annually, one silver coin of 2000 produced at each U. S mint is forwarded to Philadelphia under seal for a test whether it conforms to legal weight and fineness. The test is made by an Assay Commission created in 1801; its 17 members are appointed by the President.

The GOOD THINGS OF LIFE... on Credit

FREE!...A Booklet you won't want to miss

Have you ever wondered why a friend or neighbor . . . who makes no more money than you do . . . is able to buy a lot of nice things you apparently cannot afford?

Sometimes, perhaps, you enviously guess that he's living beyond his means . . . mortgaging his future . . . keeping only one jump ahead of the sheriff.

That would, of course, be a wrong guess in the case of millions of families who live better than their neighbors on no greater income—simply because they make better use of their income and their credit privileges.

Perhaps you, too, could enjoy more of the good things of life without waiting months or years to accumulate the cash to pay for them. A new booklet entitled "The Good Things of Life — on Credit," explains how the modern system of individual credit enables responsible people to buy almost anything they want, anywhere, any time — and pay for it later.

Ask the Credit Manager of your favorite store for a free copy of "The Good Things of Life—on Credit," or we'll gladly mail you free copy on request. Write today.
